The Dying Prince.

SYMPTOMS UNCHANGED

Affairs in France.

THIERS TO RESIGN.

COLD WEATHER.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE SICK PRINCE.

LONDON, December 9, 12 M.—The first official bulletin received from Sandringham to-day says: "The Prince slept a little during the night. His exhaustion has not increased. The general condition of the patient is somewhat more favorable."

The feeling on 'Change is better this morning in consequence of this statement, but unofficial advices from Sandringham continue gloomy and represent that the case is hopeless.

1 P. M.—The following bulletin has been posted:

"SANDRINGHAM, December 9.—The Prince passed the morning more tranquilly. The febrile paroxysms are subsiding. No increased exhaustion."

The Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, his youngest sister and brother, and all the children of the Prince, have been called to his bedside, and are hastening to Sandringham. The Duke of Cambridge has already gone there, in response to a telegraphic summons.

The Archbishop of Canterbury requests the clergy to pray for the recovery of the Prince. The excitement is intense now that there is a gleam of hope.

11 P. M.—The latest official bulletin dated Sandringham, 10 P. M., says the Prince has slept since noon, but there is no improvement in the symptoms. Many public dinners and other projected festivities have been postponed in consequence of the Prince's illness.

LONDON, December 9.—The Prince of Wales' great prostration is due to hemorrhage and ulcers in the intestines. It is feared that one of the intetsines may be perferated. In that case he would die suddenly by collapse, like the Earl of Chesterfield.

LONDON, December 10—9 A. M.—Sir William Jenner and other physicians in attendance upon the Prince of Wales, have just issued a bulletin stating that His Royal Highness passed a quiet night. The prostration, however, still exists, and the grave symptoms of the disease under which the Prince is suffering have not increased.

Later.—Sandringham, December 10, Noon.—The Prince of Wales passed the morning tranquilly, and his general condition is now somewhat more satisfactory than yesterday.

The Bulletin is signed by all the physicians attending the Prince.

11 P. M.—The physicians in attendance upon the Prince of Wales have just issued the following bulletin:

SANDRINGHAM, December 10, 10:30 P. M.—The Prince of Wales has been restless during the evening, and there is no abatement in the dangerous symptoms of his disease. The low condition of the Prince causes the most painful anxiety, and intense excitement prevails throughout London and the kingdom.

SANDRINGHAM, December 11, 1:30 A. M.—The Prince of Wales has slept a little, but there is no change in the symptoms of his disease.

5 A. M.—It is manifest from the active sympathy everywhere and prayers for the Prince of Wales that symptoms of death are very imminent, and that all hopes of his recovery have been abandoned. The Queen and Princess Alexandra are bearing the fatigue well, and the latter hardly leaves the sick room.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

LONDON, December 9.—The strike of telegraphers is becoming general, and is extending to all large cities. It threatens to cause much inconvenience.

SIR CHARLES DILKE'S LECTURES.

Sir Charles Dilke informed a deputation which presented him with an address that he should suspend the delivery of his public lectures until he had addressed his constituents in Chelsea.

THE WOMAN QUESTION.

Twenty-eight ladies have been matriculated in the University of Edinburgh during the present term.

FRANCE.

THE ORLEANS PRINCES.

PARIS, December 9.—The Orleans Princes waived an interview with Thiers yesterday, and consented to defer for the present their claim to seats in the Assembly.

COMMERCIAL TREATY.

LONDON, December 9.—The Echo says France will soon renounce her commercial treaty with Belgium.

GOVERNMENT CHANGE IMMINENT.

PARIS, December 9.—A change in the French Government is imminent. Thiers will relinquish the Presidency in favor of the Duke D'Aumale. He has agreed to this movement with the Duke, and all influential members of the Right approve of it. The Orleans Princes are not to take their seats until this plan is carried out. Then a change is to be effected. All the details have been arranged. The cause of the change is Thiers' inability to withstand the Right, which has returned from the provinces very hostile, and his fear of the constantly increasing power of the Imperialists in the army.

THE WEATHER.

PARIS, December 10.—The weather here is intensely cold, and the mercury in the thermometer to-night indicates twenty-one and a half degrees below zero, centigrade. The river Seine is tightly frozen over, and a heavy fall of snow impedes railroad traffic.

DISAGREEMENT.

There is a complete disagreement between President Thiers and the Orleans Princes respecting the right of the latter to their seats in the National Assembly.

CANADA.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

ONTARIO, December 9.—At the informal opening of the Ontario Legislature, yesterday, the Lieutenant Governor congratulated the province on its great prosperity, and animadverts strongly against the conduct of the Province of Quebec in opposing the award by arbitration for the settlement of the liabilities of the old provinces of Upper and Lower Canada when merged into the New Dominion.

THE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The school system of Ontario is productive of the best results, and emigration into the province is very satisfactory.

TUGS BURNED.

KINGSTON, ONT., December 9.—The steam tugs Highlander and Hercules were burned last night. Loss $50,000; uninsured. One man was burned to death.

RUSSIA.

KNIGHTS OF ST. GEORGE.

ST. PETERSBURG, December 9.—The Knights of the Order of St. George, founded by Empress Catharine on the 7th of December, 1769, celebrated their anniversary on Thursday. In the evening a grand banquet was given, at which the Czar and the first dignitaries were present. The Czar, in toasting the Emperor of Germany, said he hoped that the intimate friendship which existed between that monarch and himself would last as long as they lived and be carried down to future generations, and that the fraternity of the armies of Germany and Russia will be perpetuated. Thus would be constituted one of the best guarantees for the maintenance of peace and order in Europe.

GERMANY.

TAX REDUCTION.

BERLIN, December 9.—Herr Delbruck presented a bill in the Diet, the object of which is to lighten the burden of taxation on the lowest classes. It abolishes the grist and slaughtering taxes, and makes important reductions in others.

ST. LOUIS.

National Board of Trade.

ST. LOUIS, December 9.—The National Board of Trade entered upon its third day's session this morning.

Mr. Fraley, from the Executive Council, reported that Mr. H. A. Hall had been re-elected Secretary of the Board, and that the Council had fixed on New York as the place for the next annual meeting of the Committee to confer with the delegates from the Dominion of Canada in regard to the reciprocal trade relations with that country. The Council's report directed a memorial to be laid before Congress asking negotiations by a commission of a treaty for commercial relations with the Dominion on the following principle of reciprocy: Admission by both countries of the products and manufactures of the other, free of duty, uniform import and international revenue laws; the sums thus collected to be divided between the two countries, and the admission of Dominion built ships to all the privileges of the coasting and foreign trade.

A final resolution provides that the Dominion shall enlarge its canal, improve the navigation of the St. Lawrence, and aid in the building of the great lines of the International Railroad, such works in both countries to be equally enjoyed by the citizens of each. The report was adopted.

Wm. Burwell, of New Orleans, offered an amendment looking to the establishment of similar trade relations with Cuba, which was referred to the Executive Council to report upon during the session of the Board.

A resolution asking the State Legislatures to enact laws for the protection of the use of the telegraph then came up.

Barton Able, of St. Louis, offered an amendment memorializing Congress to take into consideration the propriety of securing the control of all telegraph lines in the United States and operating them at the lowest possible cost.

It was warmly discussed by Gov. Opdyke, of New York, Messrs. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, Barton Able, of St. Louis, Wright, of Chicago, Ropes, of Boston, Wetherill, of Philadelphia, B. R. Bonner, of St. Louis, Taylor, of Cincinnati, Pedtric, of Newark, L. R. Shryock, of St. Louis, Rowland, of Cincinnati, McLaren, of Milwaukee, and others.

Mr. Able, of St Louis, said no gentleman upon the floor had less desire to turn the various enterprises of the country into the hands of the Government, but he considered the telegraph and postal systems somewhat identical, and both should be taken charge of by the Government. He was satisfied that if this were the case, the expense of telegraphing could be reduced nine-tenths.

Messrs. Ropes, of Boston, Wetherill, of Philadelphia, and Bonner and Shryock, of St. Louis, favored the proposition.

Mr. Welsh was unwilling to allow the commerce to monopolize the telegraph system of the country. In Europe it had been brought down so as to make it available by the lowest of society.

Mr. Atkinson, of Boston, said when the Government had not only passed a civil service bill, but has also reformed the civil service, he should support the proposition, but under existing circumstances he should vote against it.

Mr. Rowland, of Cincinnati, said that in no department of trade had prices been so reduced since the war as in freight and telegraph rates. He was in favor of giving the different States the control of the matter. He thought we were running the Government with too much. There is danger of its becoming an imperial Government soon.

Mr. Opdyke, of New York, was decidedly opposed to the proposition. He thought we were governed too much.

Mr. Cook, of Cincinnati, was opposed to the proposition. He thought we might as well call upon the Government to take possession of the railroads of the country as well as the telegraph.

Mr. Thompson, of Baltimore, said that from his knowledge of the officials of the country, he was convinced they could not be entrusted with the telegraph system.

The amendment was finally lost, and the original resolution, as follows, adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Council be requested to memorialize the Legislatures of the different States to enact laws with a view to the protection of the use of the telegraph within their respective boundaries; for the punishment of persons detected in surreptitiously and practically obtaining, or attempting to obtain, the contents or purport of private telegraphic messages; also for the punishment of employes of telegraph companies for improperly or dishonestly disclosing the contents or purports of private telegraphic messages.

W. S. Young, from the Baltimore Board of Trade, offered a resolution denouncing any inspection of articles of merchandise by State authority as unnecessary and offensive to the mercantile interests of that State, and directing the Secretary to lay before the several Legislatures the opinion that such laws should be abrogated, which was unanimously adopted.

A resolution from the Boston Board of Trade memorializing Congress for the establishment of a Sanitary Board of Appeal to protect our citizens and foreign commerce from the irresponsible control of local quarantine officers, was presented by Mr. Ropes, and unanimously agreed to.

A resolution was adopted looking to a removal by our Government and an application to the British Government, to relieve the shipping interests from the charges imposed by the latter as light house dues.

Mr. Bouner, of St. Louis, presented two communications from Mr. Abert, who has charge of the Government survey of western rivers, relative to surveys for a ship canal from Lake Michigan to the Illinois river, which were referred to the executive council.

The subject of the shipping interest came up on a resolution offered by Mr. Wetherill, of Philadelphia, endorsing the plan presented by the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report, and in favor of granting a bounty to those who may employ American built first class ocean steamers of not less than two thousand tons each in the foreign trade.

Mr. Candler, of Boston, offered as a substitute a series of resolutions favoring the abatement of all taxes imposed upon articles of foreign production which enter into ship construction, allowing all articles of foreign products needed in the sailing or repairing of steam ship or sailing vessels to be withdrawn free of duty from bonded warehouses, and admitting all vessels owned by American citizens whether sailing under a foreign flag or not to registry under the laws and protection of the United States.

Mr. Shryock, of St. Louis, in connection with the subject under discussion, read a paper urging the establishment of iron steamship works in the Mississippi Valley on the plan proposed by the Secretary of the Navy in his report before Congress.

At the conclusion of a long debate, which continued until the hour of adjournment, the following resolution, offered Mr. Opdyke, of New York, was unanimously adopted in lieu of the original proposition and the substitute of Mr. Candler:

Resolved, That the Executive Council be requested to memorialize Congress in favor of the passage of a law authorizing our citizens to purchase foreign built ships and to register them for service under the American flag in our marine commerce, the ships now under foreign flags being included.

CLEVELAND.

Alexis.

CLEVELAND, December 9.—A committee composed of the most prominent citizens has been appointed by the Mayor to make arrangements for a suitable reception of Grand Duke Alexis on his visit to this city.

BEE KEEPERS' CONVENTION.

In the Convention of the North American Bee Keepers' Association, Mr. Hosmer, of Jaynesville, Minn., read the following challenge: He has one hundred and eighteen stocks of bees, and offers to sell one hundred and eight at fifteen dollars per stock, on condition that if he fails to obtain ten thousand pounds of honey from the remaining ten stocks during the season of 1872 he forfeits the price of the one hundred and eight stocks he proposes to sell.

A number of questions interesting to bee keepers were discussed. Among the resolutions is one recommending the appointment of an Apiarian Professor in each of the agricultural colleges on the continent, and calling the attention of the State and other executives to this subject.

The convention adjourned to meet in Indianapolis on the first Wednesday in December, 1872.

ALBANY.

Connolly's Case---Hearing Before Judge Larned.

ALBANY, December 9.—In opening the argument before Judge Larned, of the Supreme Court, on an order to show cause why the order for the arrest of Richard B. Connolly, Ex-Comptroller, should not be vacated, or his bail bond reduced, Hon. S. G. Courtney, of the counsel for Connolly, read an affidavit of his client, in response to the affidavit of Peckham, on which the arrest was made. Connolly, in the main, denies the allegation in Peckham's affidavit, and sets forth that he did not appoint Green as Comptroller through any consciousness of guilt or that he was a party to any conspiracy or collusion. He also positively denies that he ever thought of leaving the State or country.

Mr. Strahan, on behalf of the people, read affidavits of the chief clerk in the Comptroller's office and others, showing that Connolly and the late County Auditor, Watson, were accustomed to hold private consultations. Other affidavits were also read, showing irregularity of accounts in the Comptroller's office.

O'Connor produced a portion of the vouchers which were not stolen, known as the "Keyser claims," and known to be forgeries, for the inspection of the Judge.

Mr. Courtney then proceeded with his argument, saying that the prosecution had given no evidence of guilt against Connolly. They have not shown that he has got a single cent of three millions alleged to have been stolen. There was not a single allegation which would warrant the issuing of an order for Connolly's arrest, unless it is that he was about to abscond. The Chairman of the Committee of Seventy, and the sub committee, after an examination, could find nothing implicating Connolly. He concluded by appealing to the Judge to decide this question without regard to public clamor.

Mr. O'Connor, replying, said he found nothing to show that Mayor Hall is not a vulgar thief; further, he believed that if there was anything against Hall, he would not fly. He can be prosecuted at leisure. I believe, however, that Tweed and Connolly would fly. He continued at length, referring to the circumstances of the frauds, and Connolly's connection therewith. He criticised Connolly's affidavit, declaring that its denials were too general. He thought it should be disregarded. He thought his honor should postpone the case a week and appoint a referee in New York to test all the evidence. Connolly should be held on two grounds: first, insufficincy to answer; second, because he is guilty of neglect.

Wm. A. Beach, on behalf of Connolly, next addressed the court. He said Hall, who was equally guilty, was not proceeded against, while Connolly was lodged in jail. Connolly's affidavit was a full and satisfactory answer. He denied the right of the people to bring an action to recover from the county of New York.

Mr. Beach contended that the Attorney General was unwarranted in bringing the the suit. The power to bring suit was vested in the people, and they had not through their legislature directed these prosecutions. He protested against O'Connor's proposition to have the case passed upon by a referee.

Mr. O'Connor then repeated his views expressed in the Tweed suit as to the right of the people to sue.

Upon the conclusion of the arguments the Judge took the papers.

ALEXIS.

Banquet at Boston.

BOSTON, December 9.—The banquet to the Grand Duke at the Revere House tonight was a fine affair, attended by many distinguished people. Robert C. Winthrop presided, and made a graceful speech, complimentary to Russia and their guest, saying that as a member of the Imperial family of the Czar he was welcomed to Boston with pleasure. He alluded to the offer of mediation of the Czar in the war of 1812, the sympathy shown in the late struggle for the preservation of the Union, and the honor paid to our hero, Farragut. Most gladly do we avail ourselves of the first visit of a member of the Imperial family to manifest the value we place on the friendship and peace which have existed between the two countries, and our earnest hope, trust and prayer is that it may be unbroken forever.

Mr. Winthrop proposed the health of the Emperor of Russia, which was drank standing, the Gilmore Band playing the Russian national anthem.

Alexis then proposed the health of the President of the United States.

Mr. Winthrop proposed the health of the Grank Duke. The latter responded as follows:

Gentlemen: I thank you for the very kind manner in which you have drank to me, and feeling happy to be in the old city of Boston, the child of that infant which was laid in the cradle of liberty, and which was so soon to become the giant whom all are regarding and whom every nation is happy to term its friend in the presence of these industrious men, whose works mark one of the best pages of American liberty, and shows that the mind of the giant is here. Gentlemen, "A long cheer for the prospects of Boston."

Speeches followed by Govenor Claflin, Mayor Gaston, President Elliott of Harvard College, Admiral Poisset, Hon. G. V. Fox, Oliver Wendell Holmes, who recited a poem, Geo. S. Hillyard, Jas. Russel Sowell, Count Catacazy and others.

The banquet broke up just before midnight.

CHICAGO.

National Bank Losses.

CHICAGO, December 9.—The statement telegraphed from Washington that the loss of the Chicago National Banks, by fire, was one million and five thousand dollars, is without foundation. The source of information is supposed to be the Government Bank Examiner, who made a brief visit to the banks one day last week. The Cashiers and Presidents of the Chicago banks were nearly unanimous in stating to him that they were unable to tell what their losses would be, though as near as the total can be approximated now it is believed that it will be less than half a million dollars.

FATAL AFFRAY.

At John Symmeoman's saloon, on Archer avenue, about ten o'clock last night, Jefferson Keating shot and instantly killed James Townsend with a revolver. Previous to the act the two had indulged in recriminations. Townsend was about twenty years of age, and a tinsmith. Keating is about the same age. He was arrested and locked up.

LOTTERY AGENT ARRESTED.

S. Hull, agent in this city for the Kentucky Library Lottery scheme, was arrested this morning and held in five hundred dollars bail, charged with being engaged in the lottery business.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The Board of Trade will move to their new quarters on Market street, South division, on Monday.

LOUISVILLE.

Gas Suit.

LOUISVILLE, December 9.—An important gas suit of the proprietor of the Louisville Opera House against the gas company for over charges, involving the correctness of the gas metres, was decided to-day in favor of the company. A most thorough calculation and test experiments were made by scientific men in the court room during the trial, and the metres were found to be wonderfully correct under all tests.

ARKANSAS.

Lease Bonds.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., December 9.—Enos Clarke, of St. Louis, is about to institute proceedings on behalf of a St. Louis bank against the State Auditor and Commissioner of Public Works to compel the issue of eighty-five thousand lease bonds, which the State claims to have been heretofore delivered on a duplicate order, obtained by the late Colonel Haymaker by fraudulent representations.

TENNESSEE.

Murder.

NASHVILLE, December 9.—Lewis Hill, one of Beatty's independent scouts, was brutally murdered in Fentress county several days ago. Three members of the company have been arrested as the murderers and held for trial. It was for the pay of these scouts that General Stokes engineered the bill through Congress, and for receiving pay for his services he is now being persecuted.

THE ROAD TO RUIN.

It comes to pass that Marden was only a weak and modest embezzler, compared with a party of the name of Johnson. Seth is this gentleman's sponsorial name, and he was in the employ of Gen. Spinner as interest teller in the cash room. It is the old story with Johnson. He took to stock gambling, and, as a natural consequence, to stealing. He kept ten thousand dollars on deposit with Faut, Washington & Co., a banking firm here, with which to operate in New York. A man by the name of Sherman was his agent in New York. Johnson pretended that his deposit belonged to Sherman, and Sherman covered the lying by acknowledging it. The joint abstraction of Marden and Johnson amounts to sixty-one thousand dollars, but the ten thousand dollars on deposit reduces the aggregate to fifty-one thousand. Johnson covered his stealings by false entries, and the failure to discover the fraud is accounted for by the statement that in consequence of the inadequacy of the Treasury force, Johnson kept his own accounts and disbursed the money. General Spinner is accountable for the loss to the Government, but it is probable that Congress, as heretofore, will relieve him of the responsibility. The defalcations which have occurred in the General's office are as follows: That of Charles H. Cornwall, in 1863, amounting to $30,000, and that of Edronis about a year ago, amounting to $7,500.

REMOVAL OF DISABILITIES.

The committees are improving the Congressional recess by giving their time to important matters referred to them. Next week it is probable several bills will be introduced, and among them one removing disabilities from all who are disqualified on account of participation in or encouragement of the rebellion. There is a strong disposition to push such a measure through before the holiday adjournment, but if an opinion may be based upon past experience, very little business will be transacted before the holiday interval.

NOMINATIONS.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue made various nominations of internal revenue officers to the President to-day, among which was that of Alonzo B. Carroll, to be assessor for the Second Missouri district, vice Barnabas Smith removed.

THE HUMBOLDT LAND OFFICE.

The President, on an earnest appeal of the entire Kansas delegation, ordered that the Humboldt (Kansas) land office be removed to Neadesha, instead of Independence, as heretofore ordered.

APACHE INDIANS.

Colonel Davis, of General Pope's department, reports that the placing of the Apaches upon a reservation would be unwise; that for the present they should be kept where they are.

REVISION OF MINT LAWS.

A revision of the mint laws will shortly be brought before the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10, 1871.

SUPPLEMENTAL CONVENTION.

The Senate will probably this week act on a supplemental convention between the United States and Mexico for the settlement of claims, as the original will expire the coming year.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably fall very generally on Monday throughout the United States, and especially in the Pennsylvania and New England, with brisk southwest winds and threatening weather; clear weather and light winds continue in the Southern and Gulf States; threatening weather on the upper lakes. Cautionary signals continue for this evening at Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester, Oswego, Portland, Boston and New London, and are ordered for New York and Cape May.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The bill introduced by Senater Edmunds to regulate the civil service provides that all appointments to all offices, except postmasters and such as are required by law to be made by the President with the consent of the Senate, shall depend upon open competitive examination, and a board of commissioners to be appointed for five years, unless sooner removed by the President with the consent of the Senate.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democratic Executive Committee has not yet fixed the time for holding the contemplated caucus. It may not take place until after the holidays. Some of the more prominent Democrats say they have nothing to recommend other than was stated in the address they issued at the close of the last session of Congress.

THE ATTORNEY GENERALSHIP.

Attorney General Akerman has said nothing whatever to the President about his leaving the Cabinet, nor has President said anything to Akerman on the subject. Members of Congress and others have, however, freely expressed themselves in favor of a change, and are endeavoring to effect it.

MORMONDOM.

The bill introduced by Senator Cragin provides stringent means for the execution of the law against polygamy and incestuous cohabitation in Utah, and for the reorganization of the territorial militia and the suppression of the so-called legislature of Deseret.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

There is at present no information in possession of the Government relative to Cuba, which requires specific legislation. Should anything occur calling for the consideration of Congress, it will be communicated with a special message.

INDIAN LANDS.

Clagett, the newly elected representative from Montana, is endeavoring to secure a legal title to Indian lands in the Bitter Root Valley, Montana Territory, for the white settlers now on the reservation.

MILITARY.

It is likely that there will be little business before the House Military Committee. Legislation upon the subject of the staff of the army is, however, probable.

TO DECLINE.

It is stated that Sumner will to-morrow decline the appointment of chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

COMMERCIAL TREATY.

Negotiations for a commercial treaty between the United States and Spain will soon be concluded.

OUR WASINGTON LETTER.

[From our own Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, December 7th, 1871.

"PATRIOT"-IC QUIBBLES.

The late Tammany organ here, called the "Patriot," because it espouses all the unpatriotic principles of the North and South, contains a leading article to-day under the caption of "The servility of Congress." This patriotic reference to the representatives of the people, assembled in their national capacity, is quoted from Senator Blair, in a speech before the Senate, wherein he denied that the Ku-Klux Committee had communicated with the President before the proclamation was issued for suspending the writ of habeas corpus, as stated in the President's message. The great President maker decently and patriotically makes an issue with the President because he, Blair, was not present when the Chairman of the Ku-Klux Committee made the disclosures in behalf of a committee of which, through courtesy, he became the carping member. Another puerile quibble of the great carping member flourished in italics by the "Patriot" is to the effect that "more than nine tenths of the persons arrested had been arrested for acts committed before the passage of the law which gave the President the power to issue such proclamations and order of arrest. If it were so, what possible difference can it make? The intention no doubt is to make out a case of ex post facto law committed by the President, and he seems careful only to say this inferentially, but if he means to leave this impression at all it is manifestly idle and false.

The 4th section of the Ku-Klux law construes what is to be considered and deemed a rebellion againt the Government of the United States, during the continuance of which it shall be lawful for the President, when in his judgment the public safety shall require it, to suspend the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus and make arrests. The pains and penalties have all been provided long since, and hence there can be no retroactive operation of law in these cases. Why then do these patriots wail so mournfully over the fact that the crimes of this murderous band of insurrectionists are likely to be punished, even though they were committed before the Ku-Klux law headed off this attempt of the Southern Democracy to create a reign of terror for the intimidation of all who dared to vote the Republican ticket? The trouble is that the law is likely to prove effective, and the hundreds of cases brought to the attention of the President during the past two years are likely to be adjudicated in the interest of humanity, and the preservation of social morals in the South.

It is now indicated by the action of the California Legislature, in choosing Hon. Thos. Shannon speaker of the House of Representatives, that Hon. Aaron A. Sargeant will be returned Senator for that State in place of Senator Coles, whose term expires next March.

About five hundred cases have been concluded before the Southern Claims Commission, three fourths of which are in favor of the claimants, but the aggregate amount is reduced from 1,600,000 to less than $500,000.

The following is the report of the true population of the United States, just ascertained by the report of the Superintendent of the Census: Aggregate States and Territories, 38,923,210; white 33,589,857, colored 4,886,387, Chinese 63,254, Indians 383,112, out of tribal relations, 25,731, on reservations at agencies 96,366.

Horace Greeley, Whitelaw Reed, and other New York politicians were here yesterday for the purpose of President making and to form a skirmish line on the borders of the Republican party. A conference was had with Senator Schurz regarding the formation of an anti-Grant party out of Republicans and so-called conservatives, which means bread and butter Democrats. No definite steps have been taken, and it is doubtful if the proposition to give up numerous offices to those hungry Democrats to help an already certain cause, will prove generally popular with old members of the dominant party. We shall see in due time.

A bill was introduced in the House of Representatives yesterday appropriating two million dollars to purchase the square on which the old government building stood and to commence the erection of a new U. S. building. It will probably pass before the holidays in order to give aid to the persons thrown out of work by the fire and to furnish buildings actually required by the needs of the U. S. business in that unfortunate city.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The weather is unusually cold here for this season.

Albert Heisley, colored, was found yesterday morning frozen to death on 18th street near the canal. Verdict—death from exposure.

A white woman was picked up at 23d and I streets nearly frozen to death, with a bottle of whisky by her side also frozen.

Wall's Opera House, one of our Washington theatres, took fire yesterday morning and was entirely consumed, together with the stage appliances. The building was a very indifferent one for such a purpose, but its loss will perhaps hurry up the proposed enterprise of erecting a large and well appointed Academy of Music or Opera House for Washington.

The loss of Wall's Opera House by the fire is stated at about $50,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

Judge Barron, who was recently elected to the Wisconsin Legislature, has returned here and resumed the duties of Fifth Auditor, which will be continued by him until the first of January, when he will retire and return to Wisconsin.

The funeral of First Auditor Smith, who died here a few days ago, took place yesterday. There are two vacant auditorships at present—First and Fifth soon to be filled.

A Senate resolution adopted by Mr. Morrill, of Maine, will inquire what further legislation upon the Indian question is required. The Indian treaties set aside reservations on which the Indians are to be collected and retained in the future. Commissioners accordingly selected two reservations—one in Indian and the other in Dacotah Territory, supposed to be large enough so contain all Indians east of the Rocky Mountains. This action was reported to Congress several years since, and large numbers of various tribes have from time to time been placed upon these reservations, but to this day Congress has never ratified and confirmed the reservations to the Indians, and they have no assurance that they will not be despoiled of their lands by unprincipled white settlers, who have already driven many of them from their new homes. Notwithstanding the faith of the country is pledged to them, there is now great danger that a general line of encroachment by white settlers will be made upon their lands, and that their efforts to defend their rights will be so construed by frontier settlers that all the prejudices against the Indians will be so worked upon by misrepresentation that they will get no sympathy, but instead will be treated as enemies determined to perpetrate raids upon civilization.

The character of the first white settlers on the western frontier is known to be bad, or indifferent at best, and it is doubtful whether the project of the treaty can ever be sustained on account of the value and extent of the lands reserved to the red man for hunting grounds. Its want of regular occupancy affords a standing temptation to those pioneers to seize and cultivate the richer parts, to which the Indians seldom make visits. It will be well for Congress to consider some method of securing smaller tracts to the head of each Indian family. Let the tracts be ample and well defined, and the Indian may then really get a large homestead where hunting grounds, which only tend to retard his industrial training, may be impossible. AGATE.

COLUMBIA.

Ku Klux Trial.

COLUMBIA, S. C., December 10.—In the Federal Court on Saturday the Government entered a nolle prosequi in the first indictment against Bealton and others, and presented a new indictment charging murder. This brings up the question which is expected to go for a decision to the Supreme Court. The objections of the defense to the new indictment were overruled, but they were given until Monday to examine the indictment. The defense argue that prisoners who plead guilty should be lightly punished under the fourth section of the Ku Klux bill, but the prosecution claims that the sentence should be ten years imprisonment and five thousand dollars fine under the sixth section.

STERLING BONDS.

No decision has been reached in the State House of Representatives on the bill introduced for the repeal of the Sterling Funding act. Governor Scott and Treasurer Parker have ordered six millions of sterling bonds in the hands of the American Bank Note Company to be sent to Columbia, where they will be cancelled.

CALIFORNIA.

Inauguration of Governor Booth.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 10.—The conduct of Governor Haight at the inauguration of Governor Booth is highly applauded by all classes. He was accompanied by his secretary and personal and military staff, Adjutant General Casemen, Major General Cobb, General H. Elbeston, General Howell and staffs, with an escort of infantry, cavalry and artillery, nearly one thousand strong. He waited on Governor Booth at his residence, took him in a carriage to the capital, presented him to the audience and after the inauguration address attended him to the Governor's rooms, then escorted him home, and they attended a military banquet together in the evening.

NEW YORK.

Erie Railway Extortion.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY.

Sunday Parade Prohibited.

BIBLE WAR ENDED.

NEW YORK, December 9, 1871.

NO COMPROMISE.

The Tribune asserts that Connolly had asserted on November 29, at the instigation of Commodore C. K. Garrison, whom Connolly was anxious to have become his bail, to make restitution to the city in the sum of $1,000,000, but Charles O'Connor would not consent to the arrangement, his proposition being the assignment of property by Connolly to this amount, to await the decision of the trial, and it consequently failed. If the proposition had been acceded to, Connolly was to have turned State's evidence. Mrs. Connolly, in whose name Connolly's property all stands, was the principal negotiating party, and governed herself wholly by Garrison's advice.

SUNDAY PARADE.

The leaders of the International Society to-day sent the following dispatch to Gov. Hoffman, at Albany: "Can we parade."

The police are all ordered on duty to-morrow to prevent any display or procession by the Internationals. Eight hundred men will be under orders at headquarters.

At a meeting of the Internationals to-night a dispatch was received from Gov. Hoffman, saying the law placed the matter of the parade in the hands of the police authorities. The action of the authorities prohibiting the procession was strongly denounced. There was much discussion about changing the day for the parade from Sunday, as the specific objection of the Police Commissioners was on account of the day. A motion was carried to have the parade on Christmas day. Subsequently it was decided to refer the matter to the Federal Council for approval. A member, after delivering a violent denunciation of the police authorities, expressed his determination to be present to-morrow at the place from which the parade was to start, with his red flag and sash, and march over the route himself.

EXAMINING JURORS.

The jurors who tried the recent Black Friday case, and of whom it is alleged certain members had been bribed, are being examined to-day by Judge McCunn, who states that if the evidence is sufficient he will send the case of the culprits before the Grand Jury.

OVERCHARGING.

One of the suits against the Erie Railway, in the New Jersey courts, for overcharges, has been decided against the company. One hundred and fifty-nine additional suits are to be commenced at the next session of the Circuit Court.

USELESS OFFICE.

The County Auditor's Bureau, which some time ago had fifty names on its pay roll, has only eight now, and as the office is said to be useless, it is possible that the Legislature may abolish it.

STATEMENT DENIED.

The statement that Commodore Garrison had been negotiating to induce Connolly to make a restitution to the city is said to be unfounded. The story is denied by Connolly.

NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Chamber of Commerce contemplates purchasing the site where the post-office now stands and erect a Chamber of Commerce building for the use of the organization.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Intelligence from Washington says several influential Pennsylvania Congressmen state that Speaker Blaine is the choice of their State for the Vice Presidency in 1872.

SMALL POX.

Seven new cases of small-pox are reported since noon on Friday, with five deaths, making thirty-six cases and fourteen deaths for the week.

ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEYSHIP.

It is understood that the position of Assistant District Attorney, vacated by young Tweed, has been tendered to John D. Townsend.

BOWLING GREEN SAVINGS BANK.

The Bowling Green Savings Bank expects to be able to declare a dividend of fifty per cent. by the first of January next.

BANKRUPT.

The New Amsterdam Fire Insurance Company having been declared bankrupt, a receiver has been appointed.

FISK-MANSFIELD.

The Fisk-Mansfield case was again postponed to-day.

NEW YORK, December 10, 1871.

BIBLE WAR ENDED.

The Bible war at Hunter's Point ended in a compromise between the Catholic Committee and the Commissioners. All expelled are to be taken back. The Catholics do not oppose the reading of the Scriptures, and Catholic children are allowed to remain in the class rooms during religious exercises.

THE INTERNATIONALISTS.

The intended funeral procession of Internationalists, which was forbidden by the police, did not occur to-day. It was feared they would attempt a parade. A disturbance was anticipated. Prominent Internationalists, with red neck ties and red feathers in their hats, were at Cooper Institute, where they were to form, and walked around an hour. The police were on hand to prevent the parade and disperse any crowd that might collect.

The police in front of Cooper Institute this afternoon arrested six Internationals out of a party of about one hundred who were attempting to parade.

CONFIDENCE GAME.

Samuel Wallace was arrested yesterday for playing a confidence game by purchasing one hundred thousand dollars' worth of goods of various merchants, ostensibly for a heavy house in Santa Fe. He obtained none of the goods and will be discharged.

FIRES.

Fifteen thousand ties belonging to the New Jersey West Line Railroad were burned yesterday at Newark. Loss $10,000 to $15,000. Van Couten's planing mill, in Paterson, and some adjoining property, was burned yesterday. Loss $20,000; insured for $5,500.

SCHOOL DIFFICULTY.

Another school difficulty occurred on Long Island in the town of Oyster Bay, arising from the mixture of colored and white children by a female teacher, who has been dismissed by the trustees.

RESCUED.

Three of the crew of the British ship Nonpariel, before reported wrecked, were rescued from a piece of wreck, where they had been seven days, and taken to Martinique.

GEN. CLUSERET.

General Cluseret has not arrived here, but is expected from Europe about New Year's. The report that he accepted a Mexican command is untrue.

PERSONAL.

Sir Edward Thornton and family arrived by the steamer Calabria from Liverpool to-day.

CINCINNATI.

Recognition of God in the Constitution.

CINCINNATI, O., December 10.—A call for a national convention to secure the recognition of God in the Constitution, by an amendment to that instrument, has just been issued from this city. It is signed by the Governors of Pennsylvania, Vermont and Kansas, Judge Wm. Murray, of New York, Bishop McIlwaine and numerous clergy of this city. It is to be held in Cincinnati on January 31, 1872. No Methodist minister signed the call. The Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city decline to agitate that question.

Coal Strikes.

PHILADELPHIA, December 9.—The Miners' Journal says that coal strikes at this time would be only in the interest of the operator. The miners cannot expect to get any advantage by a strike, as the market has a large supply to run on.

RAILROADS.

THE PETROLEUM ROAD.

The Titusville Courier says: Mr. Belden, one of the contractors of the Pennsylvania Petroleum railroad, was in the city yesterday. The road may now be considered a fixed fact, a large force of workmen being now engaged in grading the line on the Watson flats just below the city limits. This is good news to every one interested in Titusville and the oil country. The want of every business community is competition in railroads, but in none more so than in this, where the prices of our staple commodity, oil, depends a great deal on cheap freight. With the Petroleum road, and the Warren & Venango road built we shall have this. They both connect with finished roads east and west, besides giving us independent routes to the lake region, and hence cannot fail to add materially to the business prosperity of every mile of territory through which they pass. As said before, therefore, the fact that the contractors have already commenced work on the line of the Petroleum road, is good evidence that the managers mean business.

NEW CANADIAN ROADS.

The Montreal News says:

We perceive that a bill is now before the Quebec Legislature to charter a road of iron or steel from Sorel by way of the town of St. Johns to Phillipsburg or St. Armend. This road, if carried out, will sweep along the east bank of the Richelieu, include Chambly with its water powers, St. John with its like trade, and then make for the Province line, no doubt with the intention of falling into the willing embrace of some American line. It will be known as the Montreal, Sorel and Chambly Railway, with a nominal capital of two millions. The directors are not bound to raise more than five hundred thousand dollars by private stock or municipal votes, and the deposit imposed is limited to the modest sum of five thousand dollars; but on the other hand, as a proof of their sincerity, they stipulate in their charter to construct ten miles of railway within one year. There is another charter before the House covering much of the same ground, save that the parties have no wish to visit Sorel. Their proposed road will extend from the waters of Lake Champlain to some point opposite Montreal. We recognize in these various railway projects the pressure of the American railway companies who are anxious to push feeders for their lines far into Canada; in fact our roads south of the St. Lawrence are in the majority of cases but prolongations of American rail ways nourished by a profitable home traffic.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—Jacob Brack, a negro, was hung at the Louisiana Court House, Virginia, last Friday for the murder of his wife.

—A fire at Rockville, Ind., last Friday night, destroyed the east side of the public square. Loss, $42,300; insurance, $36,500.

—One hundred and ninety-eight deaths from small-pox occurred in Philadelphia last week—a decrease of thirty-four from the week previous.

—Dr. J. A. Williams, a well known physician of Cairo, Ill., while conversing with his wife on Saturday evening, fell from a chair a corpse from heart disease.

—Rev. C. B. Parsons died on Friday night at his residence in Louisville, aged 66. He was for fifteen years a prominent actor, and left the stage for minister of the Methodist church.

—The President of the Mail Steamship Company between New York and Havana says the refusal of the company to carry New York papers to the latter place is in consequence of the wish of the Spanish authorities in Cuba to suppress incendiary documents there.

—At Urbana, Ohio, on Thursday, the soldiers' monument, one of the largest in the State, was dedicated. Nearly eight thousand people were present. Speeches were made by Governor Hays, General Joe Hooker and others. In the evening the citizens gave a banquet.

—Last Wednesday night a coal train was completely smashed on the Erie road at Middletown, New York, by a collision. Also, on the same night, an express train ran into and smashed a lumber wagon, killing the team. In both instances there were narrow escapes of loss of life.

—The first pier of the railroad and wagon bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Joseph was successfully laid on the bed rock last Thursday morning, and the sinking of the second will commence at once. It is expected that a pier will be sunk every month until the entire four piers are based on solid rock.

—The New York Herald's Washington special says: A scheme is on foot for the impeachment of the President. The subject was under consideration in the Democratic Congressional Committee on Friday, and will be further pursued at the meeting next Wedneday. It is believed that Montgomery Blair is at the bottom of it. The main charge will be for the violation of the international law, usurpation of the war powers and connection with the attempted annexation of San Domingo.

THE RIVERS.

CAIRO, December 10—Arrived: Arkansas Belle, Evansville, 6 A. M.; Robert Burns, Memphis, 6; Alaska, Cincinnati, 10; R. C. Gray, Louisville, 11; Emma Floyd, Cincinnati, 1 P. M. Departed: Robert Burns, Cincinnati, 8 A. M.; Emma Floyd, Memphis; Marble City, Vicksburg, 3; Alaska, New Orleans, 5. River stationary. Clear; thermometer 34.

MEMPHIS, December 10—Clear and cool. River declining. Departed: Groesbeck and Kate Kinny, New Orleans; Sampale, Cincinnati; Mary Houston, Louisville. The Tiger has gotten over Reams bar, but the Republic is still hard aground.

LOUISVILLE, December 9.—River still falling; 4 feet 10 inches in canal; scant 3 feet in chute. Clear and cold. Business less active. The Camelia went to Madison for repairs. Only packets are moving to-day. The Leclaire will leave for the Tennessee river to-morrow.

KANSAS.

Dr. Medlicott Sentenced.

LAWRENCE, December 9.—A motion for a new trial in the Medlicott case was overruled by Judge Basset at Garnet to-day, and the prisoner, Dr. Medlicott, was thereupon sentenced to be hung on the 26th of January. A bill of exceptions was filed by the prisoner's counsel, and the case will go to the Supreme Court, which meets in Topeka early in January. The general impression among the lawyers is that the Supreme Court will grant a new trial.

GOVERNOR LESLIE, of Kentucky, has taken an advanced position for a Kentucky Democrat. In his message to the legislature he comments with great severity upon the mobs which have defied the laws of several counties, and he recommends the adoption of measures for a more thorough enforcement of the laws, in order to avoid the necessity of federal interference. He also desires the legislature to pass laws admitting negroes as witnesses in the courts; giving them equal rights in all respects with others, and providing for their education by setting apart a certain proportion of their taxes for the education of their children. Governor Leslie's course will disappoint the "Bourbon Democrats," who expected him to lead a new revolution against the constitutional amendments. He is wise enough to see that revolutions never go backward.

THE following incident has been published as occurring in Connecticut, in Indiana, in all the towns of the South, and in Cincinnati. The probability is that it never occurred anywhere: A lady who couldn't persuade her husband to get her a patent clothes-dryer, took the pole out from her old-fashioned line the other evening, and crouching down by the fence screamed "murder!" In an instant her startled lord came flying out of the house, was caught across the throat by the clothes line, and before he could recover himself it had nearly sawed his head off. The next morning a sober-looking chap, with his neck all done up, was seen putting up a patent clothes-dryer in that yard.

WITH the first train of cars that crossed the plains of the great West went a shipment of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s Cream Ale to Salt Lake City. From that moment the advent of a better civilization began to be felt—and Mormonism was on the wane.

DAILY GAZETTE.

OFFICIAL PAPER
Of Pittsburgh, Allegheny City and Allegheny County.

GAZETTE BUILDING:
Corner of Sixth Avenue and Smithfield Street.

MONDAY, DEC. 11, 1871.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 46f.

BONDS at Frankfort 97¼@97½.

GOLD closed in New York on Saturday at 109¾@110.

SENATOR RAMSEY, of Minnesota, has introduced a postal telegraph bill, which is considered by all who have seen it, a decidedly practical measure.

THE New York Tribune has at last admitted, inferentially, that its opposition to President Grant's re-nomination is owing wholly to the fact that Senator Fenton and itself have been partially overlooked in the distribution of Federal patronage. The country will breathe easier, now that "the cat is out of the bag."

NOTWITHSTANDING the efforts of the Democracy, and disaffected Republicans, it has been ascertained that out of the one hundred and thirty-nine Republican members of the House, there is not one who is willing to oppose openly the re-election of President Grant in 1872. This is a significant fact, and one that will have weight throughout the country.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says:

"There are, we believe, three tolerable hotels in Pittsburgh. In this city there are fourteen hotels that rank with the three of Pittsburgh; and we do not brag about our hotels, either."

There are five hotels in Pittsburgh of the class called tolerable by the Commercial, and the worst of the quintette is better than the best we could ever find in Cincinnati, where the lack of good hotel accomodations is so notorious that the people have become aroused and schemes are projected for no less than four large sized hotels to fill the vacuum.

WE hope no Republican voter of Allegheny will fail to attend the polls to-morrow, and cast his vote for our whole ticket. Besides the Mayor, they have one half of the Select, and all of the Common Branch of Council to elect, and, in addition, several School Directors and Election officers in each ward, and members of the Board of Directors of the Poor in five of the wards. The issues are of sufficient importance to call out a full vote, and we hope none of our friends will neglect their duty.

His Honor, Mayor Callow, has made an excellent Chief Magistrate, as is attested by the good order which has prevailed during his term. He is in every way worthy of a triumphant re-election, and we feel sure he will receive it. The question of a High School is to be submitted to a vote also, and we urge all to attend the polls and record their will.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR has written a long letter to the World, wherein he takes strong ground in favor of the Democratic party remaining in the back ground of politics, and at the proper time supporting some candidate, who is hereafter to be brought out in opposition to President Grant. He admits that the Democratic party as a national organization is totally unable to successfully combat Republicanism, on account of its past history, and hopes through the aid of discontented Republicans, anti-Grant men, and disappointed office-seekers to accomplish the defeat of the candidate of the dominant party. Without a platform of principles, with no determined policy of conducting the affairs of the nation, with no motives except the overthrow of the Republican party and the acquirement of office for themselves, these desperate politicians expect to secure enough votes from the American people to accomplish that which, as an organization, the Democratic party has repeatedly failed to do. We could not ask of Mr. Blair a greater favor, than to oppose us with such a scheme as this. The cloven foot of Democracy will be clearly visible in all such attempts; and repudiated demagogues like Montgomery Blair are just the persons to lead such a forlorn hope.

A BELIEF in the supernatural powers of certain jewels is as old as tradition and probably even as old as—well, let us say Adam's grand children. Especial significance has always been attached to certain stones, and the stock of legends to which this long prevailing superstition has given rise is very large, particularly in connection with the emerald and the opal. But it is not often that dead old superstitions in regard to precious gems are revived in these days of secret doubt and public derision of all such matters. Fort Wayne, however, has produced a man, who, in turn, has produced a jewel and a story. The jewel is "a white, lustrous star-shaped stone set in a plain narrow band of gold," and "no diamond or ruby ever exceeded it in lustre or brilliancy." What the material nature of the stone is, has not been ascertained, but its spiritual nature seems to be entirely unique. It has been in the family of the present possessor for generations, but the most expert lapidaries can make nothing of it, though the owner thinks an author or compiler might make a large book of the legends connected with it. The properties of this precious gem are peculiar. "Whenever death is hovering over the roof tree" of the owner the white stone turns black. When his son was wounded, during the late war, the stone was streaked with blood color. If he meditates entering upon some new speculation or business enterprise, if it is to turn out successfully the stone becomes of a beautiful golden color, but if the result is to be disastrous it gets very blue, as doubtless would the master too, under the circumstances. The owner of the gem, gives numerous instancees from his own career to prove that he has prospered by following the advice of his monitor, and we presume they are amply satisfactory to his acquaintances in Fort Wayne. We have not learned what he would charge for—say a year's lease of the stone with guarantees, but we think it would be an excellent thing for a speculator to have about him.

PROTECTION.

We are indebted to the courteous Editor for advance sheets of the December number of The Bureau, a monthly magazine, published in Chicago and devoted to the interests of commerce, manufactures and the general industries of the united States. The number before us contains an able refutation of the Sophisms of Bastiat in relation to protection, whose works are looked upon as standard by the advocates of free trade. His "Sophisms" were published in this country with the view of annihilating both the theory and practice of protection in the United States, a work which has not been as yet, and we hope will not soon be, accomplished. In our opinion they furnish a new armory and supply new weapons for the defense of protection. The great fallacy in Bastiat's argument is, that in his inductive process of reasoning he predicates the truthfulness of all the particulars upon the apparent truthfulness of one, a system of illogical induction by which we might demonstrate that black is white—that there is only one color, or no color at all.

It is not our intention to argue the question here. We will merely quote a few passages from the pages of the Bureau, which we think will convince even the most skeptical that a system of free trade would be injurious, in the highest degree, both to labor and capital, two handmaids which should ever exist together in friendly and co-operative alliance. Bastiat is very unfortunate in the propositions he lays down. To us they seem to be the very strongest arguments that could be used in favor of a protective policy, which should be the first law with nations as well as individuals. Lord Brougham said more than half a century ago: "England can afford to incur some loss on the export of English goods, for the purpose of destroying foreign manufactures in their cradle." Had it not been for the protection afforded American industry, our manufacturing interests would have been destroyed long ago, and this is the great objective point of British free trade.

Bastiat says it is but just that after a long day's work, the laborer should be permitted to exchange his "little wages" for "the largest possible sum of comforts" that can be obtained. This is just what a protective policy secures to the laborer. Free trade would soon take away every comfort from him. It would give him no work, and consequently no "wage." Hear the reviewer on this point:

"Under the operation of the protective principle, this is exactly what the laborer realizes in the expenditure of his earnings. But Bastiat assumes it to be otherwise. From that erroneous standpoint, then, let us continue this inquiry addressed to the working man. Your are, we will suppose, a moulder. Your skill in that mechanical vocation enables you to earn higher wages than you could in any other occupation. Employment, so far as you are concerned, depends upon the ability of those who conduct the foundry to carry on their business. This they could not do but for the protection afforded by the tariff. But, deluded and seduced by the alluring idea of the Free Traders, that you could buy more with your money if customs duties were abolished, you zealously aid those who secure the first hypothetical step to this realization. As a consequence, your employer cannot sustain himself against the inpouring competition from foreign countries, is compelled to suspend operations, and you are discharged. With a stoppage of wages your means to purchase are cut off, and it makes very little matter to you whether commodities are dear or cheap, for in either case your purchasing power is at an end, and they are out of your reach. Which would be preferable, your then or your former condition? Such has already been the experience of thousands, and everybody knows that one ounce of experience is worth many pounds of theory. Thus it will be seen that the economical problem contains other important elements besides that of high or low money price. The free trade recommendation to "buy in the cheapest market," is perfectly sound, provided every one will be as fully and profitably employed in producing the means of purchase as he was before. In that event, to buy in the cheapest market, although it should be a foreign one, is the manifest pecuniary advantage of each individual and of the whole community—that is to say, regarding immediate monetary consideration alone, and disregarding considerations of more moment, such as the variety, the constancy and security, the wholesomeness, the moral and political tendency of the employments of the people. But if the foreign market for exports be (as it always is) limited by a departure from the protective policy, so that the preparation of exports will not employ the whole industry that was before employed, then the case is at once changed. To buy in a cheaper foreign market would still be the immediate interest of individuals, but it would cease to be even the pecuniary interest of the community as a whole. It would be fortunate if commercial philanthropy and pecuniary profit could be brought to work together to the extent desired by the Free-Traders, but unhappily the self-aggrandizing propensities of fallen human nature form an insuperable obstacle."

Bastiat bears the following testimony in behalf of a protective tariff, although his intention is to make it tell in favor of free trade:

"Since the reign of protective tariffs, if we see more workmen in our mines and our manufacturing towns, we find also fewer laborers and vine-growers in our fields and upon our hill-sides."

To this the Bureau makes the following reply:

Really, we might re-produce this as a reason for rather than a reason against the protective policy. The first and heaviest tax to be paid by the community is that of transportation; and the extent of its burden may be accurately measured by the proportion which the number of transporters bears to the whole number of the people. In other words, the transporter is to the people what the numerator of a fraction is to its denominator, in dicating how much of the integer is taken to fulfil a particular function. . . . . . What would be the case if nearly all our laborers were at work 'in our fields and on our hill-sides?' Nearly everybody would be a seller of soil growths; and almost nobody a buyer. One consequence would be, that the surplus product of the farmer perishing on his hands for want of a market, he would cease to produce much beyond his consumption, because the excess he could not sell. Besides, while his resources would be thus dwarfed and emasculated, his expenses would be greatly increased; for all manufactured articles, the necessaries as well as the conveniences of life, being brought long distances and consequently heavily loaded with the tax of transportation, would rise in price as the purchasing power declined. These would be swift steps in the direction of scarcity, instead of abundance—the very reverse of what Free Traders claim as the inevitable result of their economic system. * * * We prefer a diversification of pursuits, which it is the mission of a protective tariff to engender, and the high civilization, power, strength, wealth, independence, and national and industrial influence which are its inevitable consequences. We remember that no strictly agricultural people stand in the first rank of political communities, while those among whom industries are most numerous and most varied, are the greatest and most prosperous on earth."

We can appeal to the history of nations, in almost every age of the world, in proof of the declarations and arguments made above. The reasoning is sound and should commend itself to the careful and most mature consideration of all who desire to see our manufactures and industries prosper. We have not space at present for further extracts. We hope the above will be sufficient to cause those who are skeptical on the subject of a protective tariff, to reflect on the pernicious influence which free trade would have on our commercial and manufacturing interests.

REPUBLICAN FEUDS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, December 8.]

That the Republicans of this State have been divided, at least since the nomination of Mr. Lincoln at Chicago in 1860, is a fact too widely known to need proof. Four United States Senators have meantime been chosen, and in three of the four contests the choice has turned substantially on this well marked division, which has likewise been evinced in several Republican State Conventions—notably in the last two. We have preferred to speak seldom and guardedly of the dispensation of Federal patronage as influenced by this chronic difference, but this our antagonists will not permit. We find the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE quoted at our doors where it indulges in such monstrous misconceptions, if not willful misstatements, as the following:

"We are inclined to think, and we imagine the good sense of the country will indorse the position, that Mr. Greeley opposes the President because of the part he has been compelled to take in the foolish and malignant fight among the factions of New York. The Fenton-Conkling troubles are at the bottom of it all. The offices in New York State had to be filled; Fenton asked that his friends receive them; Conkling did the same; the President had to decide between them; he could not appoint both sets; and this is the whole difficulty. It is unfortunate, it is disgraceful, and, as a Republican, anxious for the good of the country and the success of the party, we call upon Mr. Greeley and his friends to desist. Heal up your supposed differences, and let us hear no more about the 'Greeley Committee,' 'the Fenton,' or the 'Conkling Wing.' Let us know all friends by a simple membership in the party."

COMMENTS BY THE TRIBUNE.

So far from the truth is it that "the President had to decide between them; he could not appoint both sets," he could do, and did, the very thing which The Gazette pronounces improper and impossible. With regard to the Congress districts represented in the House by Republicans, he listened generally to their immediate representatives, regardless of the "wing" to which they respectively belonged; as to the Democratic districts, he listened to each of our distinguished Senators, and made some appointments in deference to either, while he filled certain high positions as neither had desired or suggested. Thus, of his own will and pleasure, he made Moses H. Grinnell (who was neither a "Fenton," nor a "Conkling" man) Collector of this Port, as he had determined to do long before his inauguration; while he gave the Naval Office to Gen. Merritt, a friend of Gov. Fenton, and the Surveyorship to Mr. A. B. Cornell, who was backed by Senator Conkling. Gen. Jones, of one "wing," was made Postmaster; Gen. Barlow, of the other, was appointed Marshal of this (Southern) district. The very thing that The Gazette says he could not do, he did—fairly, kindly, and to general satisfaction.

That he has since seen fit to undo his own good work—first by disranking Mr. Grinnell in order to make room for Mr. Murphy, and ejecting General Merritt to give his place to Mr. Grinnell; then by fairly kicking out Mr. Grinnell in order to give the Naval Office to Mr. Laflin, removing General Palmer from the Appraisership to make a berth for the Hon. Wm. A. Darling, &c., &c., &c.—is well known. Why he has so done, we leave to be set forth by those who urged and engineered the changes, who certainly ought to know. Up to this moment, we believe it has not been even insinuated that those of his own appointees whom the President has expelled from office, were not competent and faithful public servants. The chief of them had not even been identified in any manner with the fortunes or supposed aspirations of our last chosen Senator.

The Gazette calls upon "Mr. Greeley and his friends" to "heal up our supposed differences." What about our broken heads? For more than a year, to be known as one of those "friends," has been to be marked for ejection or exclusion from Federal office. Those "friends" were beaten in the Republican State Convention of 1870 by the most unscrupulous use of Gen. Grant's name and patronage, by those who have since, by the direct interposition of the leading Federal office-holders, wrested the Republican organization in this city from the hands of Mr. Greeley's "friends" and handed it over to his implacable adversaries. Our last State Convention was in like manner carried against Mr. Greeley's "friends," who have for months been systematically treated as Gen Grant's enemies. We should have liked throughout to "know all friends by a simple membership in the party;" but we are, and long have been, [illegible] by the wielders of its power as aliens and adversaries. The calumnies heaped upon us by the Cabinet organs as "Tammany Republicans," when we were doing our utmost to elect the Republican ticket and break the power of Tammany Hall, were rather hard to endure; and we do not perceive any cessation in that sort of warfare. How much of this does The Gazette presume calculated and requisite to "heal up our supposed differences?" Do let us know!

OUR REPLY.

We do not see that our position is in the least affected by the above ill-humored article from the Tribune, nor do we see wherein our "mis-statements" are "willful" or our "misconceptions" are "monstrous." On the contrary, we stoutly reiterate all the above statements, extracted (we will not say garbled) from our article on the Fenton-Conkling fight in New York. We re-affirm that "the Fenton-Conkling troubles are at the bottom of it all," and prove the correctness of that affirmation by the language of the Tribune, above quoted in full. We again state that "the President had to decide between them, he could not appoint both SETS." He did appoint members from both the factions, as the Tribune admits, but even this was not satisfactory to the "Greeley wing," as they evidently wanted the WHOLE power and patronage. They were not satisfied with the President's attempt to please all parties, and distribute the New York offices equally, or as nearly so as the case would admit of. The Collectorship being the largest prize, and not being devisable, was given to the Hon. Moses H. Grinnell, whom the Tribune assures us "was neither a 'Fenton' nor a 'Conkling' man." Passing on we come to the Naval Office, and we find it given to a "Fenton man"—General Merritt. Next the Surveyorship is filed by a "Conkling man," according to the Tribune—Mr. A. B. Cornell. "General Jones of one wing, was made Postmaster; General Barlow of the other, was appointed Marshal of this district," as appears from the Tribune, and in the name of common sense and fairness, what more could General Grant do toward healing up the breach among these troublesome factions? And yet the Tribune and the "Fenton wing" were dissatisfied, and continued their warfare against the opposite wing, because they imagined that greater favors had been extended to them, than to themselves. What followed? The President, doubtless finding that his efforts to please had been laughed at, and scorned by Mr. Greeley and his friends, then assumed his lawful and correct independence, and thereafter made removals and appointments without regard to the wishes of either of the warring factions. Now Mr. Greeley seriously asks: "What about our broken heads?" All we can say is heal up your supposed differences, show that your Republicanism is not devoted wholly to the procurement of the loaves and fishes, and your broken crowns will mend through the gentle influences of moderation, and rest from turmoil.

After all, is it not a sorry sight to see how the mighty have fallen. Horace Greeley, our old monitor, our political guide, whom we have been accustomed to look upon as the avant courier of the political millenium, lending his great and good name to the interests of a few office seeking politicians. Come up, old guardsman, out of the depths, into which base and vindictive spirits have dragged you, and again sit on the topmost towers of the citadel, where all can see you, and know that the gates are well guarded. Break away from the dissatisfied faction which is using your good name to secure their selfish aims. We repeat, let us hear no more of the "Fenton or the Conkling Wing," and" know all friends by a simple membership in the party."

THE "Army and Navy Journal" very justly hopes that the subject of staff reorganization in the army will receive the attention of the War Department and of Congress this coming winter. During the last session Congress made an attempt, as to the success of which there are two opinions, to regulate the staff in the navy, but the demands of the army seem to be more important than mere questions of rank or precedence. As the editor says: "The very smallness of our army renders it all the more vital that its organization should be as nearly perfect as possible, especially that of the staff. Our staff system and organization, with the exception of the fusion of the military and typographical engineers into one corps, are substantially the same as they were a quarter of a century ago. In an era of stupendous changes and progress on all sides, it is surely questionable whether that system and organization were so perfectly devised twenty-five years or more ago that they still remain thoroughly or even safely adequate for the new order of military conditions created by new arms and ammunition, and the swift means of movement and concentration of armies by steam power." What is needed for an efficient staff is not a corps of officers permanently isolated and apart from the line of the army, but a body of efficient regimental officers temporarily detached and highly trained, in successive series, to staff duties, but subsequently returned to the line of the army. This is, in effect, the Prussian system, and no stronger evidence of its efficiency and merit could be adduced.

THE EXTENT to which street railroad travel in South London has grown can be judged from the fact that in connection with the Blackfriars and Westminster lines to Greenwich, Camberwell and Brixton, forty-five cars are running daily. At St. George's circus, at the top of Blackfriars road, the point of convergence for all the cars starting from and returning to Blackfriars and Westminster bridges, with the exception of those on the direct line from Westminster to Chalpham and Brixton, the cars in the aggregate pass four hundred and forty-one times a day, that being the number of journeys performed daily by the forty-five engaged. Twenty-four cars on the Greenwich line make seven journeys each daily, or one hundred and sixty-eight in all; while nine cars on the Brixton line make eleven journeys each, or ninety-nine during the day.

THE New York Evening Post says: There is very little doubt but what the army just at present is in a bad way. The report of the Secretary of War makes the number of enlisted men 29,000, and of commissioned officers 2,105. But desertions are far more numerous than enlistments. Nor is this to be wondered at. Men were enlisted last June, say, for five years, with the understanding that they were to receive $16 a month, and after being in the service for three or four months, they found their pay reduced, without any warning, to the sum of $13 a month. True, the recruit agrees to accept such wages as Congress may see fit to give; but the principle thing the would-be soldier understands is the promise of $16 a month. This change looks a little like bad faith; and, besides severe punishment, such as the articles of war prescribe for desertion, is seldom, if ever, inflicted in time of peace. Officers are, it is said, kept on the active list, instead of being retired, for fear that Congress may sweep away the retired officers from the pay rolls. Promotion, always slow, becomes exceedingly uncertain. Gentlemen whose "special mission" it is to "reform" the army, ought to have some regard for these little matters. We want a small army, but we want an effective one, and wholesale desertion does not help the service any.

WORDS OF WARNING.

When the incipient cough which indicates that tubercular deposits may be taking place in the lungs, we can only advise that a proper and efficacious remedy, like Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure, be applied at once as a cure. Little by little these destructive deposits are allowed to secrete themselves in the pulmonary tissue, until sometimes a large portion of both lungs are made impervious to air, and consequently unfitted for the office of respiration; if suppuration should take place, the difficulty becomes insurmountably greater, as ten to one the fearful destruction which takes place will end in deep inroads upon the constitution and general health, and placing the life of such person in extreme jeopardy. The numerous instances in which this great medicine has rescued from the last stages of consumption, ought to make it the first resort by all those who are troubled with coughs or expectoration of pus, although the latter rarely takes place unless the lungs are already ulcerated, and as the coughing continues, streaks of blood are often indications of the advancement of the disease. The value of a remedy like Dr Keyser's Lung Cure in cases like these can hardly be over-estimated, and will only be disregarded by such as place an improper estimate upon human life.

Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is sold at his great medicine store, 167 Liberty street, at $1 50 per bottle, or 4 bottles for $5. Dr. Keyser's office hours from 10 A. M. until 1, and from 3 until 6 o'clock

SHOCKS TO THE SYSTEM.

The first shock of winter tells tremendously upon enfeebled systems. Every one knows that in passing from a warm region to a cold one, or vice versa, the body requires as a protection against epidemics, an acclimating medicine. All travelers and voyagers admit this. It is equally necessary to acclimate the system in passing the confines of one season and entering upon another. Autumn is gone and winter is here. Prepare the frame and the constitution to meet the change by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This inestimable vegetable tonic increases the staminal strength of those who take it, and renders them proof to a great extent against the devitalizing power of cold and damp. These two agents are as prolific of disease as tropical heat, and animal vigor—such vigor as this healthful and pure tonic diffuses through the whole organization—is a repellant which they cannot master. A large proportion of the colds, catarrhs, and pulmonary complaints which prevail in winter, might be avoided, by strengthening and regulating the system in advance with this invigorant and alterative. Not that it is recommended as a specific for those complaints, but as a preventive of their causes. On the other hand, it is not only a preventive of, but a specific for the indigestion, intestinal irregularities, malarious fevers, bilious attacks, and nervous affection, superinduced by a chilly and damp atmosphere.

FIRE PROOF SAFES.

[From the Pittsburgh Commercial.]

One of our bankers who has witnessed the effects of the great Chicago fire on the safes, so-called fire-proof, informs us that a greater part of those which were directly in contact with the fire failed to protect the papers inside—that the safes already advertised as having withstood the fire were in most cases protected by vaults or covered by fallen debris, and thus kept cool. With this being the common result, it was with feelings of local pride that he examined the books and papers of Messrs. Rumsey, Williams & Co., No. 28 Chamber of Commerce, taken from a Burke & Barnes' Safe of the old pattern, and found them in a state of PERFECT PRESERVATION, though fully exposed to the flames, while expensive Eastern and Cincinnati safes turned out their contents charred and unrecognizable. There is no reason why our city builders cannot make as good safes and better that those put up elsewhere, and no reason, except fashion that our merchants should go to other cities for their safes.

ANOTHER BLAST FOR THE BURKE AND BARNES' SAFES.

It is not alone in Chicago these safes have so frequently been in actual conflagration and proved themselves to be fire proof in every particular, as will be seen by the following:

OFFICE OF WHEELING IRON AND NAIL CO.,
Wheeling, W. Va., October 31, 1871.
Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.
GENTLEMEN—This will certify that we had in our office when it was burned on the 3d of september last, one of your fire proof safes, and we are gratified to say that the safe proved satisfactory in every respect, preserving our books and papers as fully as could be expected under the circumstances.
Yours respectfully,
C. D. HUBBARD, Sec'y.

TO ADVERTISERS.
THE
"United Presbyterian"
Offers unusual advantages as an advertising medium. It is a large, double sheet, Weekly, Religious and Secular Newspaper. It enters upon its Thirtieth Volume, January 4, 1872.
REASONS WHY
the United Presbyterian is unsurpassed, if equaled by any newspaper in the West:
FIRST—The United Presbyterian has a MUCH LARGER CIRCULATION than any paper published in the United Presbyterian denomination, and as large, or larger, than any other religious paper published in this portion of the country.
SECOND—It goes into thousands of families weekly, many of whom take no other.
THIRD—No advertisement of an objectionable kind will be inserted, and the space alloted to advertisements is limited.
FOURTH—The terms are very moderate in proportion to those charged by periodicals of scarcely half the circulation.
NOW IS THE TIME

Finance and Trade.

NEW YORK, December 9, 1871.

Gold opened at 110⅛, and closed rather dull at 109⅞@101. Loans were made at from 5 to 7 for carrying. Clearances $61,000,000. The Assistant Treasurer to-day paid out $2,200,000 gold on account of checks issued at Washington for the redemption of 5-20s, making a total thus far of $16,400,000.

The weekly bank statement shows the following changes:

Loans, increase	$1,771,500
Specie, increase	5,110,400
Legal tenders decrease	6,741,900
Deposits, decrease	1,100,800
Circulation, increase	15,900

Money opened at 7. Later it was easier at 6 to 7. Governments were strong at the close of the day. State bonds have not been very active. Tennessee and new South Carolinas were pretty active at 29 to 30. The stock market opened strong, but later in the day showed considerable weakness, being unfavorably affected by increased activity in money. Prices declined ¼ to ⅜ per cent. on the general list. Harlem was an exception and advanced from 120 to 121⅛. The exports of specie for the week amount to $345,224.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 9, 1871.

ASHES—Soda Ash, 4 cts for common and 4⅛@4⅜ for refined. Pearls, 11 cts; Pots, 10. Nitrate Soda, 5 cts.

APPLE BUTTER—Sales of fair to medium at 50@55, and prime to choice at 60@65.

APPLES—With continued light receipts and a steady demand, prices are strong though not quotably higher; sales at $2@3 per bbl for common to good and $3.50 for prime.

BUTTER—Prime to choice roll scarce and in demand with regular sales at 25@27. Common and medium grades quiet and unchanged.

BROOM CORN—Is quiet and prices nominally unchanged; 9@12 cts per lb.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Sales, in a jobbing way, at $4.50 per cwt.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged: $2.00@2.50 per bushel, as to quality.

BEESWAX—None in hands of commission-men.

CORN MEAL—Sales of small lots at 85@90 cts per bushel.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@3,00 per bbl; Rosendale, $4,00@4,50; Calcined Plaster, $4,25@4,50.

CHEESE—Is quoted, in a jobbing way, from store, at 15⅛@16 for prime New York Goshen; 15@15⅛ for prime Ohio Goshen; 14@14⅛ for Factory, and 14@18⅛ for Dairy.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches, 10@10⅛ for halves; 8@8⅛ for mixed and 7@7⅛ for quarters. Apples—7⅛@8⅛ for medium to choice.

FEATHERS—No. 1 live geese feathers, 75@77 cts to the trade—83@85 in a retail way. Mixed stock quoted at 40@60 cts, according to quality.

GRAIN—There is rather more inquiry for all kinds of grain, and since the suspension of navigation there has been quite a falling off in the receipts. Wheat continues to come in very sparingly, and, with a good demand, prices are firm; quotations may be given at $1,45@1,48 for red, and a round lot of strictly No. 1 would no doubt sell without difficulty at $1.50. White wheat, 3@5 cts more than red. Oats may be quoted at 45@45⅛ for mixed, by the car load, and 46⅛@47 for white; it is generally conceded that there is little or no margin at quotations, and holders generally, in consequence, are indifferent about selling. There is a continued fair demand for Corn, and, as the arrivals are comparatively light, prices are fully sustained; ear is quoted at 58@60 cts, by the car load, and shelled at 63@65. Rye is scarce, though there is not much inquiry for it at present; may be fairly quoted at 90@92 cts. Barley is quiet and unchanged at 80@85 for spring, and 85@90 for fall.

GROCERIES — Coffees reported firmer, though quiet. Sugars, also firmer, and dispatches from New York report a slight improvement in raws. Molasses and Syrups continue dull and weak. Rice firm. Spices unchanged.

SPICES—Pepper, 24. Allspice, 18. Cassia, 5. Cloves, 25. Nutmegs, $1.40.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, December 9, 1871.

The market has been strong all week and closes steady with a still further advance in prices. There seems to be more excitement on the creek than at any other place, and rumors of a "corner" are in circulation—it is said that "calls" have been made for something like 125,000 to 150,000 bbls, buyer all the year options. If this is correct, there is something up and it will doubtless be pretty well developed during the coming week. Buyer December, Pittsburgh delivery, 11⅛; spot, 11⅛. Parker, $4; Oil City and Lower Creek, $4 75. Refined—also firmer and higher, spot, 22⅛; December, 22⅛; January, 22⅛. There is some inquiry for lines, but we can here of but few sales.

Receipts of crude this week, 21,188 bbls; last week, 18,752; January 1st to date, 1,097,575; same time last year, 994,777. Exports refined this week, 9,901; last week, 9,031; January 1st to date, 690,365; same time last year, 758,196.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL YARDS, EAST LIBERTY, SATURDAY December 9, 1871.

FREIGHTS.

Following are the rates, per car load, from here eastward:

	Cattle.	Horses.	Sheep.	Hogs.

New York	40	100	40	82⅛
Baltimore	40	90	40	82⅛

CATTLE.

Since our report of Wednesday, (6th inst.) the market has been stronger and more active, the decline in freight causing shippers to buy freely, and, notwithstanding, the run was a fair one, there were but few cattle in the pens to-day unsold. Furthermore, it is expected that trade will be still better next week; private advices report that there will be a full attendance of eastern buyers, particularly from New York, and, consequently, while liberal receipts are anticipated, it is pretty confidently predicted that prices will be fully sustained and that a further advance is not improbable. The average quality of the offerings this week was about up to the usual standard and for the best grades, prices ruled a shade higher. Prime to extra shipping steers averaging 1,300 to 1,400, sold at 5⅛@6, with some few at $6.10 and $6.25. For the lower and medium grades, however, prices were but little if any better than last week, though they sold more readily. For further particulars we refer the reader to the annexed report of sales.

HOGS

The market closes steady, though within the past three days there has not been much change in prices; however, there are but few left over, and, in consequence, the prospects for next week are regarded as being favorable. We give the closing prices at $4.65@4.75 per cwt for Philadelphia hogs, and $4.35@4.40 for Yorkers. Thus far Harbaugh & Co. are the only packers that have bought for slaughtering here, and the indications are that the number of hogs packed in Pittsburgh this season will be unusually small.

SHEEP.

The market for this class of stock has been unusually active during the past week—some well informed operators regarded it as being in many respects the best of the season—that is, for those who had sheep to sell. The reduced freights caused an active demand, and prices, in consequence, were run fully half a cent on all grades, and all were taken readily on arrival at the advance above noted. Sales were made at 6@6⅛ for prime 100 to 130 lb averages; 5⅛@5⅛ for 85 to 95 lb fine wool; and 4⅛@5 for good 75 to 80 lb averages. It is expected that there will be a brisk demand for best 100 to 130 lbs clean weathers, for New York, for some time to come.

Smith, Watson & Briggs sold 150 head of extra fine medium wool Ohio sheep, averaging 130 lbs, to Erisman—for $6.70 per cwt—considered the finest bunch that has been offered here for some time. They were fed by Isaac Wartman, of Carroll Co., Ohio.

RIVER NEWS.

—The "freight list" of the Illinois was insured in St. Louis offices for $5,000.

—The Lady Lee, Marble City, Julia, and a long list of steamers besides, will continue laid up at Cairo for some days to come.

—A general meeting of the subscribers to the Iron Barge line, and of all interested in the success of the enterprise, was held in New Orleans last Wednesday.

—A letter from Memphis says: "The pilots of the Crescent City and also the engineers are delighted with her performance. She handles finely. She surpassed their expectation.

—The Great Republic was detained one day at New Orleans, in consequence of the city officials having issued orders that no boat shall receive cargo until she is entirely discharged.

—A late Burlington paper says: The river is now considered safe for all kinds of travel. Those who pretend to know say that the heaviest wagons can cross without any danger whatever.

—The Diana, while on the way from Houston to Galveston, recently, broke one of her wheels, a portion of which was driven through a bulkhead, breaking the arm of T. W. English, a passenger.

—Engineer Weston, of Colonel Merrill's staff left Cincinnati for Evansville, Friday night's train to make a survey of the bar in front of that city, with a view of removing this obstruction.

—The towboat Brown and barges have encountered Bacon Rock, near the mouth of the Ohio. Can't this small but dangerous obstacle to navigation be removed? A few pounds of powder or a little dualin would remove it all.

—Mr. James E. Rankin, of the firm of J. E. Rankin & Co., wharfboat owners at Evansville, was married, a few days ago, to Miss Sue Barrett, of Henderson, Kentucky, daughter of Hon. John H. Barrett, ex-President of the Evansville, Henderson and Nashville railroad.

—The Belle Lee bids fair to make another $80,000 this year for Captain Frank Hicks and the other owners. From Memphis to New Orleans, she passed Vicksburg, the other day, with 2850 bales cotton, 1000 sacks cotton seed, and 5000 sacks oil cake. She added about 450 bales cotton at Vicksburg.

—While the Shannon was aground at French Island her negro crew jumped her. They had mutinied and refused to spar, when the mate, James Kane, attempted to drive them, when one negro took a lump of coal to attack him. Kane drew a revolver and discharged the shot, which struck an innocent negro in the calf of the leg.

—The Potomac was to have left New Orleans for Cincinnati Wednesday night, but the owners of the Robert E. Lee brought suit against her for damages, resulting from the two boats last December, alleging said damages to be $25,000. Capt. Batchelor no doubt gave bond in double the sum, and we presume our dispatches will announce her departure.

—The St. Louis Democrat of Friday says: Josephus Todd and N. Buesen, late of the Mountain steamer Silver Lake, arrived on Wednesday from the upper Missouri. The former starts to-morrow for home, (Wellsville Ohio,) and Buesen will remain here a few days. Grant Marsh, captain of the Silver Lake, is now in Levenworth.... We also clip the following from the same paper: We understand that no boatmen were seen in attendance at the funeral of Eliza Haycraft's remains. An irreverent fellow thinks there might have been had public notice been given of this fact that the four pall-bearers would each receive $1,000.

—Robert Fulton wrote the following letter to Andrew Brink, Captain of the Clermont, the first steamboat on the Hudson river: New York, Oct. 9, 1807. Capt. Brink: Sir—Inclosed is the number of voyages which it is intended the boat should run this season. You may have them published in the Albany papers. As she is strongly made, and every one, except Jackson, under your command, you must insist on each one doing his duty, or turn him on shore and put another in his place. Everything must be kept in order—everything in its place, and all parts of the boat scoured and clean. It is not sufficient to tell a man to do a thing, but stand over them and make them do it. One pair of good and quick eyes is worth six pair of hands in a commander. If the boat is dirty or out of order, the fault should be yours. Let no man be idle when there is the least thing to do, and make them move quickly.

Run no risque of any kind when you meet or overtake vessels beating or crossing your way; always run under their stern, if there be the least doubt that you cannot clear their head by fifty yards or more.

Give the amount of your receipts every week to the Chancellor. Your most obedient,

ROBERT FULTON.

John Stevenson's Sons & Co., have now opened for the holiday season the largest and most elegant assortment of fine jewelry ever offered in this city, and invite an inspection of their stock of sterling silver and silver plated ware, clocks, bronzes, Parian ware and fancy goods, all of which have been carefully selected for holiday presents.

Dr. Geo. H. Keyser, one of the most eminent lung physicians in our State, and one who is conceded by the people of Pittsburgh, where he resides, to be without a superior, will visit our town on the 12th to see such persons as may want his services. The most of our citizens know his merits, for a great many have tried him.—Johnstown Tribune.

Whisky Stolen.—Tony Snyder, the "boy husband," with whose matrimonial exploits the public are familiar, and "Scrappy" Dusen yesterday called at a saloon on Fifth avenue, and seizing several bottles of whiskey, started off with them. Being pursued, they ran into an alley, and smashed the bottles. They were then captured, and after a hearing before the Mayor, Tony went up for sixty days and "Scrappy" for thirty days.

Personal.—Doctor Thomas F. Dale has been confined for some time with an enormous and angry carbuncle on the nape. Much solicitude was felt by his friends, and also by his medical advisers, lest the Doctor's constitution might yield to the virulence of the disease. It is, therefore, with unfeigned pleasure that we were assured yesterday, by Dr. Sutton, that the symptoms are so improved that all apprehensions of danger are dismissed.

We would call attention to the advertisement of M. B. Cochran in our columns this morning. Mr. Cochran has on hand a full stock of iron and wood working machinery, taps and dies, emery wheels, engine governors, differential pulley blocks, oak tanned leather belting, lace leather, and manufacturers' supplies generally, which he sells at Eastern prices, saving the consumer the cost of freight, boxing, etc. We would advise our readers in want of such articles to give him a call.

Y. M. C. A.—Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Christian Association will be held on next Tuesday evening at Library Hall. The annual report will not be read but will be printed and distributed at the close of the meeting. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. Cephas Brainerd, of New York, Rev. F. A. Noble and H. K. Porter, of Pittsburgh. The music will be by the choir of the First Baptist church. Admission free. No secured seats. The public are cordially invited.

Row in a Saloon.

Saturday evening an excitement was created in the Commerce saloon, under the Bank of Commerce building, by a man named Patrick Bradley, hailing from Crawford County. Bradley was in liquor, and entered the saloon when he challenged the inmates to fight; none of them being of a combatative spirit, his challenge was not accepted, and he had recourse to a revolver, which he flourished, and ended by firing it at John Derr, the ball going through Derr's hat. The would-be assassin was then arrested and taken to the lock-up. Yesterday morning he came before Mayor Brush, who sent him to jail for a further hearing.

House Entered.

Saturday night the residence of Mr. George Lambert, on Herron's Hill, Thirteenth ward, was entered by some thieves who succeeded in securing a lady's gold watch, Mr. Lambert's own watch, a lot of jewelry and an assortment of silverware. Nothing was known of the robbery until yesterday morning when the loss was discovered. The police were at once notified but it is not probable the goods will ever be secured. The thieves left no trace which would lead to their detection. Nothing else in the house was disturbed, and from the manner in which they managed the affair, it is evident they were experts at the business.

The Death of O'Neill.

Coroner West, Saturday morning, held an inquest upon the body of James O'Neill, who was killed at the Outer Depot, Twelfth ward, on the evening previous. The testimony was to the effect that his fall from the top of the car was caused by the giving way of the brake chain just as he was turning the brake wheel. The jury returned a verdict censuring the company for not having the cars duly inspected. The deceased was seventeen years of age, and leaves a mother, a brother and two sisters, and added to the great sorrow brought upon them by the accident, the mother's grief has been such as to cause the loss of her reason.

Depravity.

Yesterday a young girl named Lena Lyons was brought to the Allegheny lock-up on complaint of her mother, who keeps a boarding house in the Eighth Ward, Allegheny, and who had her daughter arrested for incorrigibility. A few months ago, so the story goes, the girl went on a visit to Chillicothe, O., where she was ruined by an old man, who proposed friendship, and through that won her confidence. Coming home, she took up her residence with her mother, until, it is alleged, an intimacy was discovered between her and the boarders, which led her mother to have her arrested. The case is rendered still more sad from the fact that the girl, it is said, is half imbecile. She remained in the lock-up yesterday, and will likely be sent to the Poor House to-day, as her condition is such as to require attention.

Albert M. Harper.

We regret to be called upon to announce the death of this much esteemed young man, which occurred last evening at the residence of his father, John Harper, Esq., President of the Bank of Pittsburgh, of typhoid fever. The deceased was a member of the firm of Dilworth, Harper & Co., of this city. He served during the war as Adjutant of the 139th Pennsylvania Regiment (Col. Collier's), and was seriously wounded during one of the engagements of the army of the Potomac, which rendered him incapable of re-assuming his position. He was a young man of excellent character, of much literary and scientific culture, and of our many young men, natives of this city, none had risen faster or stood higher in social and business circles. His early death will startle and distress a large circle of friends outside of the stricken and bereaved family, to whom we extend our heart-felt sympathy in this hour of their great distress.

Mansfield Savings Bank.

In the Court of Common Pleas on Saturday, upon motion of J. M. Gazzam, Esq., the final order was made incorporating the Mansfield Savings Bank. The following was the petition filed:

To the Honorable, the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Allegheny:

WHEREAS, Your petitioners, Mansfield Brown, W. J. Ford, George K. Ormond, Samuel Youart, P. O'Shea, Reese Evans, Joseph K. Cubbage, David L. Rogers, David Stewart, R. L. Walker, J. C. Bedell, and James J. Brown, citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, residents in said County, with many other like citizens so residing, have associated for the purposes set forth in the following petition, and desire to possess and enjoy the immunities, privileges and powers of a corporation or body politic in law.

They therefore pray this Honorable Court to grant them a Charter of Incorporation, under the name, style and title of the "MANSFIELD SAVINGS BANK," according to the terms of Acts of Assembly in such case made and provided.

And they will ever pray, &c.

The petition was received and ordered to be published.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

A Conductor Killed—The Old Story—Verdict of the Jury.

Another railroad accident on Saturday. About three o'clock in the morning Mr. Henry Brown, night conductor upon the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road was engaged about his train at the Outer Depot, Second ward, Allegheny, when in attempting to couple two cars together he was caught between the bumpers and horribly crushed. The engineer had just pulled the cars out and as they were backing Brown was caught, just as he was in the act of arranging the coupling pin. He was taken immediately and carried to his residence, 155 Rebecca street, Allegheny, where he died at nine o'clock, five hours after being hurt.

Deceased was a married man and about thirty-two years of age. He has been in the employ of the Company for about eight years and was regarded as one of the best employes in his line of service.

Coroner West held an inquest Saturday evening, when the jury returned a verdict that deceased came to his death from negligence upon the part of the engineer, Joseph Cole in backing the train without giving any signal whatever.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Meeting of the Congregation Last Evening.

Yesterday was the 11th anniversary of the consecration of Rt. Rev. M. Domenec as Bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh. Grand Pontifical High Mass was celebrated with much ceremony and pomp in the morning, and was participated in by a large congregation. In the evening a business meeting of the members was held, which was very fully attended.

At half past seven o'clock Bishop Domenec ascended the pulpit and remarked they had met this evening to hear the Rector's report of his administration, and hoped that the account would be satisfactory to all. It covered the operations of the last nine years.

The very Rev. Mr. Hickey then ascended the pulpit and stated that he proposed to give them an account, financial and otherwise, since he assumed the duties of Rector in January, 1863.

After some playful remarks concerning the report at his inception into office that "the Cathedral was to be governed by boys," he proceeded to give a somewhat detailed account of all that had been done during the last nine years. The improvements of the Cathedral consisted of the new towers and dome, altar of the Blessed Virgin, enlarging and improving the organ, &c.

The total receipts of the Cathedral from January, 1863, to date are as follows:

Pew rents	$56,500 51

Total	$55,134 55

The loan account was very embarrassing in the beginning of his administration and amounted to $101,000. Assets, $57,000.

A lady of Philadelphia, named Probst, figures in the loan account to the extent of $25,000. Total loans $47,403 39.

The present assets consist of lots on Fifth avenue, valued at $8,000; due from Soho Church, $800; Point Chapel, $2,163.51; South Pittsburgh Chapel, $1,023 45; Church at Monongahela City, $1,336 39; New Castle Church, $1,436. Total, $14,730.35.

The total liabilities of the Cathedral at present are $43,269 39.

The reverend gentleman here stated that but for the improvements referred to, the church would be entirely free from debt today. This amount could be easily paid if an effort was made. In a year hence these $43.169 39 will be paid, principal and interest.

The receipts for pew rents for the several years average as follows:

1863	$6,206 16	1868	$7,282 46
1864	6,271 54	1869	6,642 43

1867	7,038 66
Balance due			$2,048 56
Total			$56,500 51

The expenses of the free

SCHOOLS FOR GIRLS

during the nine years consisting of salaries of the Sisters of Mercy were as follows:

1863	$750	1868	$960
1864	820	1869	1,200
1865	960	1870	1,400
1866	960
1867	960	Total	9,410

The expenditures of the boys' school since the Sisters began teaching in 1866, were as follows:

1866	$266 66	1869	$800 00
1867	800 00	1870	800 00
1868	800 00	1871	800 00
Total			4,266 66

There were three teachers additional from 1866 to 1871—$5,280.00.

The gross expenditures for the period were $23,456.66.

Salaries of the Sisters averaged about $250,00 per annum.

The average attendance at night school is boys, 75—girls, 60—total, 135. Expenditures trifling, as the school teachers are engaged day and evening.

THE MERCY HOSPITAL.

According to the present programme, each church had to pay for the support of all the sick sent from its own parish from which three to five dollars per week was paid. Prior to 1866 the hospital was supported by subscriptions, collections, donations, etc.

The hospital charges for patients sent from the Cathedral was as follows:

1868—51 cases	$ 515 00
1869—35 cases	443 00
1870—53 cases	531 00
1871—56 cases	627 00
	$2,116 00

A portion of the above expenses was incurred in giving charity to persons arriving at the Union Depot, and other places, but who were unprovided for by law, and who could not be allowed to die on the streets.

Since 1863, $7,925.60 had been contributed towards St. Michael's Seminary.

The expenses of what the reverend gentlemen termed

showed that a large amount had been donated for objects inside the parish, as follows:

Bishop of Charleston	$ 500 00
Algerian Mission	1,000 00
Maronite Mission	1.0 0 00
Chicago	500 00
Natchez	600 00
Auntsville, Ala.	800 00

In 1863 the Cathedral parish numbered 12,000 souls, but was now reduced to 8,000 by erecting new churches at the point, Limerick and Soho.

The Rector here stated that Graff, Bennett & Co. had subscribed, and importuned the Reverend gentleman to build a church in Limerick, as otherwise the men would work but three days, and drink the rest of the week.

The number of marriages solemnized in the Cathedral from January, 1863, up to date were as follows:

Total			$4,400 00
1863	106	1868	142

Deaths for the same period, 4,904.

The average attendance at the day schools was 1,100. The number of minor and adult confirmations since 1863, 2,573. The average number of communicants, 6,000; indifferent, 1,500 to 2,000.

The religious societies, consisting of benevolent and beneficial societies, Sodalities, Children of Mary, etc., were all in a flourishing condition.

The reverend gentleman stated that a pamphlet would be published giving in detail a history of the Cathedral. In conclusion, he begged them to look over any errors he might have made in the nine years he had acted as Rector, as they were errors of the head rather than of the heart. He hoped to continue long enough with them in the future to finish the Cathedral.

It would cost about $8,500 for exterior stone work, and some $4,500 for frescoing and decorating the interior. He would call a meeting at a future day to consider the proposition whether the debt of the church should be paid now, or the church pushed forward to entire completion.

At the conclusion of the reading of the report Dr. George H. Keyser came forward and in behalf of the congregation presented the following

RESOLUTIONS

Which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the lay members of St. Paul's Cathedral, in meeting assembled, have heard with great satisfaction and pleasure the report presented on the financial progress and condition of the church, and that our earnest thanks and most hearty gratitude be hereby tendered to our zealous and beloved Bishop and Vicar General for the admirable and economical management of the church funds during their conduct of its affairs.

Resolved, That we hereby congratulate our highly respected and beloved Bishop on the occasion of his celebration of the eleventh anniversary of his consecration as the guardian of the Catholic interests of the diocese, and that we point with Christian pride to the great and noble progress our Holy Church has made through his devoted labors and exertions.

Resolved, That we offer our prayers to the Great Dispenser of all things to bless and sanctify our beloved Prelate, and to vouchsafe him health, strength and long life in this world and eternal happiness in the next.

The Bishop made an eloquent and grateful address in response to the resolutions, in which he thanked the congregation for this new evidence of their love and respect. The meeting then adjourned.

Number of deaths during November	250
Number of deaths from small-pox during November	92
Number of small-pox cases reported and visited	195

The following bills were presented and ordered to be paid: Mercy Hospital (for November), $385; House of Mercy (for November), $543.24; Wm. McCallin, for carting cases to hospital, destroying infected clothing, coffins, etc., (for November,) $287.85; Uniondale Cemetery, for burying 13 bodies since September 23, $65; Bridget Cowan, $8; B. L. Fahnestock & Co., drugs, $16.19; Chronicle, advertising, $9.

The Health Officer stated that he had been called upon by two Germans, C. F. Huchel and John Gausler, who desired to start a city schindery. The gentlemen being present were invited into the presence of the board, and stated their proposition. They proposed, if they could obtain the authority of the board, to take up and remove all dead animals from the streets, alleys and lanes of the city, without cost to the city. For the removal of dead bodies from private property they desired to receive such pay as the board may fix, and they would give bonds for the faithful performance of the contract. Their boiling establishment is at Woods Run. If they obtained the contract they would like to have the sole right to the business of the city.

Mr. Edwards stated that he did not think that the board had any right to give out any contract for removing dead animals from private property until the carcasses tend to be a nuisance. The board only could have the right to remove dead animals from the streets and alleys of the city.

After some discussion, the matter was referred to the Sanitary Committee and Health Officer to report at the next meeting.

The Health Officer reported sixteen deaths from small-pox during the week so far.

The board then adjourned to meet next Saturday.

Public Entertainments.

NEW OPERA HOUSE.—The attendance at the New Opera House on Saturday, to witness the great Janauschek was large and very enthusiastic over the wonderful conception and rendition of the characters she assumed. To-night we are to have the Wyndham Comedy Company, which is spoken very highly of by the press throughout the country.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—The stock company at the Opera House are deserving of the highest encomiums. On Saturday evening they played to a large and appreciative audience, and were the recipients of the heartiest rounds of applause. "The Carpenter of Rouen, or the Massacre of St. Bartholemew," was given with decided effect, and the comic drama of "Turpin and King" was rendered in a most acceptable manner. To-night we are to have the Great Murphy in Meader's celebrated drama HELP.

THE COOMBS TROUPE.—This excellent Comedy company commence their engagement under the auspices of the Art Association at Library Hall on Monday, the 18th inst. This company, it will be remembered, have played two engagements in our city to crowded houses and have been the recipients of the patronage of our better class of citizens who appreciate merit and true worth in an artist. The sale of seats continues at Kleber's, and as a large number of season tickets have been taken, it would be advisable for those who intend to see this company's representations to secure their seats at an early day.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Robert Frazier's Minstrel and Pantomime Troupe, of Philadelphia, open at this "cozy little theatre" to-night. The troupe consists of twenty star performers, and promise an entertainment in the line of Minstrelsy and Pantomime that is unequaled by any troupe traveling. They remain but four nights, and we shall anticipate crowded houses for them.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—Manager Fred. Aimes has capped the climax in the variety business. Crowded houses nightly greet the excellent performers. Additional attractions this week. Victorella Family, gymnasts, Lillie De Berg, vocalist, Dan Howe, Dutch comedian, Weston Sisters and Miss Annie Bradon, together with the entire strength of the old company, will amuse the patrons this week.

Not to be Outdone.

Messrs. Watt, Lang & Co., wholesale grocers, of 172 and 174 Wood street, ever mindful of their customer's interests offer to the trade a prime selection of new crop New Orleans sugars. This establishment has become a "household" word for the purity and freshness of their goods. Purity, because they spare no pains as money to obtain a superlatively prime article of whatever commodity the market and trade require. Freshness, because having a very extensive trade, both in city and country, no opportunity is given their goods to become stale from long storage, being disposed of almost immediately upon their reception. And as to their enterprise, promptitude, and reliability, they have no superiors among the class of merchants doing business in the city. They have ever conducted their trade to the full and entire satisfaction of their patrons. Everything in their line guarantees itself and needs no special warranty. Orders entrusted to them are filled, if possible, with greater promptness and greater liberality and more faithful attention in the absence of the purchaser than under his immediate supervision. Persons patronizing this firm, become patrons for life, so pure and excellent are their goods, so satisfactory their system of business.

Tour of Inspection.

Amongst the many attractive articles we noticed while upon a tour of inspection at the jewelry establishment of Messrs. J. R. Reed & Co. No. 68 Fifth avenue, we noticed the excellent good taste which manifests itself to the eye upon every side, in the selections that have been made by this house to meet the demands of the holiday and presentation purchaser. The gold and silver watches, American and Swiss. Bracelets, breast pins and ear rings in sets. Ladies opera leontine, (Nilsson patern) and leontine gold guards. Opera royal necklaces, hand and chain bracelets and gents' gold and silver chains, all styles, in such an endless variety that words fail us in trying to do justice to the house in detailing the same. These goods must be seen to be appreciated, and we recommend our readers to avail themselves of the first opportunity to give Messrs. Reed & Co. a call; No. 68 Fifth avenue.

Interesting to Horse Shoers.

Horse-shoers will be glad to learn that the enterprising hardware house of Messrs. Straub & Gross, No. 71 Federal street, Allegheny, have, in addition to their large and fine stock of hardware, a full line of horse-shoer's tools and material, such as horse shoe iron, horse shoes and nails of all sizes, made from the best quality of iron, which will be sold to the trade at unusual moderate figures. In connection with the above line they have, among other articles, fire irons and fire stands, coal hods, coal vases, tool chests for children, pocket and table cutlery, silver plated ware, &c., &c., suitable for Christmas presents. Give them the benefit of a call; 71 Federal street.

THE SMALL-POX.

How Patients are Treated in Fear-Stricken Places.

The small-pox is a disease so loathsome to ordinary mankind that we can scarcely marvel at the exhibition of fright and nervousness on the part of people when it makes its dread appearance in a neighborhood, but sometimes, indeed we might say in the large majority of cases, communities lose all sense in dealing with the disease and forget the common dictates of humanity. Some time ago we heard of the case of a most respectable young man of this city who was suddenly stricken down with the disease while on a visit to Tyrone. He was turned away from his hotel and his friends who visited him were forced to erect a rough wooden cabin in the woods out of town where lingering he died. Recently from the same humane town comes the story that a railroad employe was attacked by the disease and was nailed up in a freight car there to die at leisure and almost alone. Then comes a story from Leetonia, on the Fort Wayne Railroad, to the effect that a Mr. William Hamilton, formerly a resident of South Pittsburgh, and who but recently established himself with his family in Leetonia, while on a visit to this city, contracted the disease and not knowing it returned to his home. When it became public that he had the small-pox the Christian people of Leetonia were greatly alarmed, and at a public meeting resolved that he should be allowed a physician, but that the doctor, his wife and seven children should not be permitted to leave the house while he was ill. The poor man had no outside attention paid to him, but was left, with his physician and family, as prisoners in his own house. Mr. Thos. Walsh, a friend who resides in South Pittsburgh, hearing of Mr. Hamilton's distress and having no fear of the small-pox visited him, and once he entered the house he too was compelled to remain a prisoner and forbidden the privilege of the streets of the town. Fires were built about the grounds surrounding the premises and a guard of men were detailed and kept constantly on duty to keep the inmates from coming out.

Mr. Hamilton died. A few hours after his death he was wrapped in a cloth and at midnight was buried, four pall bearers who had had the small-pox carrying the corpse to the grave and none of the occupants of the house being permitted to attend the funeral. After his demise the occupants were ordered to remain in the house ten days by the authorities for fear that the contagious disease might be communicated by them to others. We have heard other stories of similar import which illustrates how fear and the love of life drive from the human heart the dictates of brotherly love and charity. Such cruelty may be deemed wise and prudent in dealing with the poor unfortunate small-pox patients but it does no credit to the community where practiced.

SOUTHSIDE SANITARY STRIFE.

The Ormsby People Appeal to Court—They Don't Want that Hospital—Consider it a Nuisance, and the Court Agrees with Them.

The gentlemen who are endeavoring to regulate the sanitary affairs of the Southside, especially with reference to small-pox, failing to agree upon a compromise among themselves, have at last presented their case in Court for adjustment.

Saturday morning Mr. Acheson, counsel for the Borough of Ormsby, filed a bill in equity, and asked that the Sanitary Committees of the boroughs of Birmingham and East Birmingham be restrained from proceeding with the establishment of that hospital in the borough of Ormsby, and from conveying patients through the streets. The bill set forth that the health of the people of the borough would be seriously endangered by the hospital, that it was located in a thickly settled region, that a better site elsewhere could be procured, and that the people of Ormsby considered it a nuisance—their Council having passed an ordinance to that effect.

W. C. Aughinbaugh, Esq., in reply for the respondents said the people of the South Side where the small-pox was raging, were suffering for want of a hospital; that no other location so favorable could be secured; that the building in Ormsby borough was completed; that it was separated from all other buildings and care would be taken to absolutely prevent any contagion from it.

The counsel then argued the case at some length, after which

Judge Sterrett said, the act of incorporation gave the Borough the authority to pass ordinances for the protection of the lives and health of the citizens. If that right was wrested from the borough, there would be nothing to prevent the cities and other boroughs from converting it into a general pest district. The injunction should be granted. An an order was therefore made for the issue of a preliminary injunction to prevent the completion or occupancy of the building until the case could be finally decided; the plaintiff in the meantime to give bond in $2,000.

FASHIONABLE FURS.

Immense Stock at Wm. Fleming & Co.'s, 139 Wood Street—The Place to Purchase—15 to 20 per cent. Cheaper than Elsewhere in the City.

In order to purchase fashionable goods of any kind it is necessary to purchase at an establishment of some reputation, and one that does a large business, as it is such houses alone that keep up a full stock in all the latest styles of goods in which they deal. This is particularly the case in the fur trade, as will be seen by a visit to some one of the leading houses. Take, for instance, the establishment of William Fleming & Co., at 139 Wood street, the most extensive fur dealers in the west. There you will find all the latest styles of furs from the very finest grades to the cheapest, and what is of more importance to the purchaser, they are sold for less money than you would have to pay for last year's furs at other houses. In fact Fleming & Co. make it a point to undersell other houses from 15 to 20 per cent. in all qualities of goods. In addition to their large stock of ladies', children's and misses furs, which they are selling cheap, either by the set or single article, they have a large assortment of wolf, fox and buffalo robes, Afghans and sleigh wraps, which are now just in season and are selling rapidly. The Messrs. Fleming & Co. consider it no trouble to show goods, and their salesmen are all polite and attentive to visitors, and it is worth the time it requires to visit their establishment and see their immense stock of goods. Give them a call.

BREVITIES.

COUNCILS meet to-day at 2 P. M.

THE streets and show-windows present quite a holiday appearance.

MR. ROBERT CLUGSTON, County Surveyor elect was sworn in Saturday morning.

JOSEPH L. LOWRY, ESQ., is a candidate for the office of Superintendent of the Water Works.

MR. AND MRS. C. F. SPANG, and Miss Rosalie Spang of Pittsburgh, were registered in Paris on the 24th of November.

"WHAT will we do with it" provided the City Fathers don't "quail" is just now the query disturbing the serene peace of the Allegheny School Controllers.

JOSEPH OLIVER, a young man, disappeared from his home in Allegheny about a week ago and has not been heard of since. His absence causes great anxiety to his friends.

SATURDAY afternoon the Allegheny police picked up an insane man named Jacob Appy, on Ohio street, in the Eighth ward. He is still in the lockup but will likely be disposed of to-day.

THERE is a whisper of a design among the reportorial fraternity of extending a generous vote of thanks to the independent candidates who are to infuse a little freshness and excitement into the Allegheny elections tomorrow.

MAYOR BLACKMORE has announced his intention of retaining as his clerk, James S. Patterson, the present clerk to the Mayor. Smythe, who "had a sure thing of it" is again left out in the cold. By the way wouldn't Billy "make a good Chief of Police?"

THE Library Committee announce the fifth lecture of the current course for Thursday evening next, to be delivered by the eminent orator, Daniel Dougherty, Esq. of Philadelphia. Subject—The Stage. Mr. Dougherty, always brilliant, will be especially at home on the "stage." A large audience awaits him.

THE surface of the political sea in the Third ward Allegheny politics is strangely ruffled. Aldermen and "Davy" Smith says a "maelstrom" is raging there. Davy ought to know, for his jaunty little political bark was tossed about on the heaving billows of the recent primaries and has not been seen since.

Holiday Gifts

The annual holidays are now approaching, at which many bonds of friendship will be renewed, and appreciation of good service that has been rendered will be manifested by tokens, in the form of presents, applicable to the occasion. This is certainly honorable in the parties who thus show their generosity. And the lucky recipients, when they find themselves to be thus complimented, may well feel stimulated to preserve the friendship which they have won, or to continue giving satisfaction in their special employment. Gifts are only emblems of approbation or affection; while

"Love, and love alone, is the loan for love;"

and

"Praise no one e'er deserved, who sought no more."

Among those who will justly be remembered at these anniversaries are the faithful and successful teachers of youth, in both Sabbath and public schools. Some appropriate mementoes from their respective charges will wonderfully encourage them in their labor of love, and will afterwards afford them pleasing remembrances. While I heartily endorse and recommend the custom, I would respectfully make a few suggestions in regard to the most acceptable and appropriate articles for presents of this kind.

Principals of Academies and Ward schools are often complimented with the gift of a silver or golden-headed cane, on which is inscribed the name or names of the donor. This is very good. A photograph of the School Board sitting in council would be equally proper. I once saw a picture of a whole school in a group, with each countenance so distinct as to be recognized by their teacher. This as a present made the teacher's heart glad. The likeness of a teacher presented to his or her pupils at the close of a term would give evidence of friendship for them and interest in their welfare. When books are thus presented, they should be of a dignified character. Reference books in science and literature, and the works of the eminent British and American poets and orators are very good for the purpose. A few of which I will name, viz: The Dictionary of Poetical Quotations, American Oratory, Brown's Grammar of Grammars, Dictionary of Dates and Events, Biographical Dictionary, some of the Encyclopedias, chromos and steel-plate engravings, illustrating important events in science and history, are very good for this purpose.

Smith's Bible Dictionary would be one of the most suitable gifts for Sabbath-school Superintendent. Bibles, prayer and hymn books are often presented, but most of those to whom they are donated have them already, and often such gaudy ones are given that they are little used; for these reasons they have less virtue as gifts. Gifts which are very costly, and which may be but little needed or used, are objectionable. I have known an instance in which a rural teacher was presented with a lot of good books, in value over thirty dollars, at the close of a term, the munificence of which, while testifying of his acceptable service, testified much of the lack of judgment in the donors; for one-half of their cost in ready money at his disposal would have purchased articles much more needed by him just then. He would have been fortunate if he could have found time to read them all during the next two years. Many similar cases occur. The real wants of teachers and ministers of the gospel are always best known to themselves, and no one likes to say what kind of a gift would be the most acceptable. One general rule for all presents may be given: Let them be such articles as combine both utility and ornament, and let both have some reference to the vocation of the recipient.

Lovers of the "weed" should use Dilworth's "Heart's Ease." tf

THE Calcutta Englishman says: "The King of Barmah is determined to become a monopolist, and European, Chinese and Mogul tradesmen are all grumbling. They complain that they cannot compete with His Majesty, and some of them are closing their shops. The King has opened one large central depot, and several smaller ones in different parts of the town; and the native purchasers all have recourse to them, as they consider it would be against the King's orders to purchase elsewhere. The King's excuse is that he wishes to replenish his treasury, but His Majesty loses money on these transactions, and yet still extends them, and promises to extend his other branches of trade in produce very considerably. His Majesty seems determined, in spite of advice to the contrary, to have his own way, and get everything under his direct control. Forests, timber and trade are all being included in the Royal trade-net that is spreading over Upper Burmah. It remains yet to be seen whether British trade will considerably suffer in the end. Some Chinese traders have determined to return their imports of piece goods to Rangoon. The King has also sent a large consignment of cotton to Bhamo, and has engaged the services of two men there—one on a salary of sixty rupees—to proceed with the cotton, when the season is unfavorable, to the Shan States, and, it is said, Yunan, for the purpose of selling it and opening out the routes. His Majesty has promised to open out the routes, and has stated that he will see a great change in three month's time."

A POUGHKEEPSIE journal revives some historical reminiscences which are of general interest. When Holt's New York Journal was driven out of this city by the British, it was for many years published by Mr. Holt in Poughkeepsie. His successor was Nicholas Power, and he in turn was followed by Paraclete Potter, brother of the late Bishop Alonzo Potter, of Pennsylvania, and of Bishop Horatio Potter, of New York. In connection with his newspaper business, Mr. Potter, in 1806, opened a bookstore in which book publishing and selling was carried on for sixty-four years, till the store was burned down last winter. In this store both Alonzo and Horatio Potter were once clerks. Mr. Paraclete Potter published school books and a variety of miscellaneous works, among them Baron Steuben's Military Tactics. He was a Federalist in politics, and for a time his journal was the State paper. The little reading room in the rear of the bookstore was for many years the favorite assembling place of many men whose names are noted in our late history, such as James Kent, afterwards Chancellor, James Tallmadge, N. P. Tallmadge, Philo T. Ruggles, James Duane Livingston, Gulian C. Verplank, Peter R. Livingston, James K. Paulding, Edmond H. Pendleton, Charles H. Ruggles, and many more, who made the place a resort for social, literary and political intercourse. Bishop Alonzo Potter used to declare that he received his first literary impulse from listening to the animated and interesting discussions in that old reading room.

AT the opening of the Court of Cassation at Paris early in November, Renouard, the Procureur-General, made a statement as to the number of volumes destroyed in the library, when the Palais de Justice was set on fire, during the last days of the Commune. The library was founded in the year 9 of the Revolution, from the books belonging to the emigres, convents and other religious establishments declared to have become national property. Citizens Merlin, Ziangia, Comi and Daunou made a choice of those considered desirable for the Tribunal of Cassation, and additions were made at intervals. At the time of the fire they amounted to as many as fifty-one thousand volumes, of which thirty thousand have perished. Among the volumes spared are a fine collection of theological works from the convent of the Agustinians, from the Sobonne and the Abbaye Saint Victor; a manuscript copy of the registers of Parliament; a collection of books that formerly belonged to Cardinal Richelieu, with his arms on the covers; volumes from the library of President De Harlay, the Grand Coutoumiers of France; the "Gallia Christiana," and other valuable works, among them the admirable catalogue of the library by the late M. Denevers.

RECENTLY, on a visit to the penitentiary, the editor of the Huntsville (Texas) Republican had a full view of Santanta and Big Tree, the Indian chiefs recently incarcerated. Santanta is an elderly man, with open countenance and good bearing. He is said to be a hereditary chief. Big Tree is a chief by promotion. He is represented as being about thirty-five years old, and as having a downcast, felonious look. Both behave well, and are as easily controlled as any convicts in the prison.

TICHBORNE.

New Sensations Told by a Sensation Maker.

Picadilly, the sensational correspondent of the New York World, writes as follows:

The surprises in the highly sensational drama of "Baronet or Butcher" are not yet over, if there be any truth in the following startling statement, which appeared in the London correspondence of the Scotsman yesterday. It will be remembered that the case of the defence is that the claimant is not Roger Tichborne, but Arthur Orton, son of a butcher at Wapping.

Some years ago a person who had been brought up to the law, and who held the position of Superintendent of Police in Greenock, and a procurator fiscalship somewhere else, came to London and became a clerk in a place close to London bridge. Soon after that he went to Australia, where he remained about eight months. When he returned to London he hunted up a well-known Scottish gentleman who had befriended him more than once. He mentioned to this gentleman that when he left Sydney there was great talk there about a man named Orton and the Tichborne case, and expressed his surprise at finding somewhat similar talk going on in London about the same person. He had found that a customs locker at Brewer's Quay, London Bridge, had been in the Carabineers when Roger Tichborne figured in that regiment, and he strongly denounced the claimant as an impostor. All this was brought to the ears of the counsel for the defence in the Tichborne case. The Scottish gentleman who had been to Australia was quickly engaged at a payment of £350 a year, exclusive of traveling expenses, to go to the antipodes and hunt up Orton's antecedents. This gentleman has just returned to England, and he is able to give full particulars of the whole career of Orton from the beginning to the end. I am told that he can prove that the Orton about whom there has been so much talk went out to South America some years ago, as a butcher, and settled on the "ranch" or farm belonging to a man named De Castro. Orton after some time took the name of De Castro. When Orton came home he used to be known among his friends as De Castro quite as much as by his proper name. After a time old Orton became tired of supporting his son in idleness, and he sent him off to Australia in charge of a number of Shetland ponies. It appears that the captain and some of the crew of the vessel which took Orton and the Shetland ponies out to Australia are to be brought forward as witnesses for the defence. This occurred within the past ten years. It can be sworn that Orton was landed at Sydney, that he has never been in Melbourne, and that his occupation while in Australia consisted of what is known as loafing and bushranging. I am also assured that the Scottish witness to whom I have been alluding has got a warrant against Orton for a crime alleged to have been committed by him. I am further informed that the claimant is to be permitted to make as much assertion as he can be induced to make, and that Mr. Ballantine will be forced to proceed with the part of the evidence respecting Orton before the defence will be entered upon. If I am rightly informed the Orton evidence will be a very sensational affair. A man is to be produced as a witness who will answer to the name of Orton. His evidence in chief is to be allowed to be given without any interference. After that the Attorney-General will proceed to prove that this man is not the Orton that has been so much wanted, but his brother, Edward Orton. I have also been positively assured that a well known London detective is in attendance every day, close at hand with the claimant, to present him with a warrant for his arrest on a charge of perjury, at the instance of Mr. Ratcliffe, the husband of Kate Doughty, for that the books of the Carbineers are to the fore and can prove that Roger Tichborne was with his regiment in Ireland the whole of the year in which the alleged seduction took place, and that his cousin was the whole of the same time in England. No matter how the case ends, this warrant is to be served. It has been calculated that the trial will cost a quarter of a million of money. The whole of that large sum has to come out of the Tichborne estates, which represent about 25,000 pounds a year. In the meantime you will probably have noticed that the Tichborne one hundred pound bonds, which were shilling some short time ago for ten sellings, have gone up to ten pounds.

Among the many other stories which are afloat concerning further developments of this case, the following, which came to me to-day from a well-informed quarter, is one of the most interesting.

Among the witnesses yet remaining to be examined for the plaintiff is Mr. Anderson, "The Wizard of the North." Anderson was in Australia when the plaintiff, who then was passing under the name of De Castro, was arrested, in company with Arthur Orton, upon a charge of horse stealing, and when they were examined before a magistrate Anderson was present. The examination ended in the discharge of both the accused, and "De Castro" then presented Anderson with a drover's whip, which he will now produce in court. It is added that Orton is now undergoing a sentence of penal servitude in Australia. It was intended that he should be brought to England and produced as a witness, but this cannot be done without his consent; and upon learning the importance of his testimony in the case he refused to allow himself to be brought here unless he was paid a very large sum of money. This sum the plaintiff and his friends were unable or unwilling to pay, and Orton, consequently, will not be produced.

To-day's testimony was interesting, but it was generally of such a similar character to that which has preceded it as to be needless to repeat in detail. Mrs. Theresa Hussey, formerly in the service of Sir Edward Doughty at Tichborne, had danced and talked with Roger Tichborne when a girl, and she was sure the plaintiff was the same person. The Rev. Robert Pickney, Vicar of High Cliff, had known young Roger, and was certain that the plaintiff was the man. Francis Longland, who had been a journeyman brickmaker in New York, but who now lives on his own property in Northamptonshire, was in Melbourne in 1854 and there saw the Osprey, and talked with the sailors on board of her who had been rescued from the Bella, and who bore the names given by the plaintiff in his examination. Henry Crabbe, the gardner to Sir Edward Doughty, had not the least doubt as to the identity of the plaintiff. Mrs. Stubbs, the wife of a farmer on the Tichborne estate, was equally certain that the plaintiff was the young man she knew so well as Roger Tichborne. Really, I am tolerably certain of that fact myself.

ALEXIS.

Being a poem sung by the school children of Boston, written by OLIVER W. HOLMES.

Shadowed so long by the storm-cloud of danger,
Thou, whom the prayers of an empire defend;
Welcome! thrice welcome! but not as a stranger;
Come to the nation that calls thee its friend.

Bleak are our shores with the blasts of December,
Fettered and chill is the rivulet's flow;
Throbbing and warm are the hearts that remember,
Where was our friend when the world was our foe!

Look on the lips that are smiling to greet thee;
See the fresh flowers that a people have strewn;
Count them thy sisters and brothers that meet thee,
Guest of the nation whose heart is thine own.

Fires of the North, in eternal communion,
Blend your broad flashes with Evening's bright star;
God bless the Empire that loves the great Union!
Strength to her people! long life to the Czar!

THE New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, writing on Tuesday, says: The Evening Post, in its fourth edition, contains a very important (if true) statement with reference to the position of Gov. Hoffman. After announcing that he is no longer a Presidential candidate, the Post says: "Gov. Hoffman also renounces his long cherished adherence to the Democratic party. He is unreserved in his conviction that the party must be dissolved. For a long time he looked for its sublime reorganization upon the bases of the existing State and National organizations, but the bitter overthrow of it in New York and its popular defeat in other States, too late to rally for next year's election, satisfy him that the final judgment of the people has been pronounced upon the party, under its present leaders, without regard to 'new departures' or 'ancient usages.' He is for a new party, out and out, and is ready to act with Horace Greeley, Carl Schurz and Charles Sumner in forming one on the basis of reform, a strict construction, and the supremacy of the civil over the military power."

[Though the Post is a Republican journal, and not the best authority, therefore, to speak for a Democratic Governor, yet the fact that Samuel J. Tilden and Charles O'Connor have intimate relations with it, and that both these prominent Democrats are now in Albany, impart to its statements, a peculiar importance which the politicians down here are not disposed to ignore.]

THE Berlin correspondent of the London Echo remarks: "I cannot but confirm your Vienna correspondent's statements, who attributes the fall of Count Beust to Camarilla intrigues and an Ultramontane conspiracy. The Austrian allies of the Vatican hope soon to get rid likewise of Beust's successor. But in this they probably will be mistaken; Count Andrassy will prove a match for them. His first steps were very skillful. He tried to conciliate the Poles, but in a moderate way; and his plan of a compromise with the Slavonians has nothing to do with a premature and unwise war-cry against Russia. We learn, by sure information from St. Petersburg, that the Russian Government itself in the actual state of Europe ardently desires the consolidation of Austria, and willingly would favor a good understanding with the Poles. Polish emigrants at Paris lately were surprised by the readiness of the Russian Embassy at Paris to grant them passports, and even pecuniary means, for return to Poland. Thus Count Andrassy finds his way through many difficulties, and it may be hoped that he will surmount them. The Czechs, baffled in their foolish enterprises, were furious. They call Andrassy a Mongol. Some high placed Hungarians, sorry at losing Andrassy, predict his failure, saying he should not have allowed himself to be kicked up stairs. Deak, shrugging his shoulders, said "His dear friend Andrassy would be at Vienna like a Christmas tree, of brilliant but transient splendor!"
